Will For Simpler Bards And Harder Hitting Fighters

(Special To The News)

CHICAGO, April 25. — Gene Tunney just lectured before Yale's class on Shakespeare. He said he read Shakespeare ten times before he could get what he meant. Now that brings up the question: Is there something wrong with Shakespeare or with Gene?

If everybody has to read his stuff ten times—why Shakespeare is not the author he is cracked up to be. But if somebody else can read him and get him the first time—why Tunney is not the highbrow that he is cracked up to be.

So read my stuff at least ten times, and if you can't get it—why you are neither a Shakespeare nor a Tunney.

Yours for simpler authors and harder hitting fighters.

WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

New Castle has seldom had an election in years at which such a light vote was cast as that of yesterday. The lack of interest seemed to be apparent in every precinct in the city and county.

Advance delegations of the Rotary host that will be in New Castle for the 33rd district convention on Thursday and Friday, are already in the city. To these Pa Newc is glad to extend a welcome in addition to that arranged for the entire host of delegates.

Pa Newc believes that the new plan adopted for observance of daylight saving time in New Castle, whereby the time change will be in effect only for three months, during June, July and August, will be one that will meet with more general approbation than any thing that has been done in recent years in the way of daylight savings observance.

Some of the early spring flowers are actually out in bloom today, despite the backward season that has been experienced in this locality.

The expressions of wonder which came from the Wholesalers' Council of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce last night concerning the progress of New Castle within the last few years were peculiarly gratifying to Pa Newc. If they are to be believed, they are more than confident of the future of the city. They lauded The Castleton, the Scottish Rite cathedral, and the large trading area of which New Castle is the center. Yes, they predicted great things for the city.

Pa Newc does not know whether the Pittsburghers got their good will tour idea from Lindy or not, but a showing such as was made last night at The Castleton certainly augurs for an era of better feeling between the jobber and the retailer.

A new word was coined over at the City Tool House yesterday afternoon. When Pa Newc asked where one of his friends was, he was calmly told the man was out "politicianing."

Everyone is beginning to realize the possibilities of New Castle as Western Pennsylvania's convention center. The Scottish Rite cathedral, the Chamber of Commerce, and the big industries are all back of the movement. New Castle should be the logical center for Western Pennsylvania because we have facilities here which are to be found in few cities twice our size.

Letters are letters, but the prize letter came to Berny Hanlon, secretary of the motor club, the other day. Evidently the man wanted to know the laws concerning a Pennsylvania auto driver who went to Ohio for some time. Typewritten, it was couched in the English of the First George, and by dint of much effort, it was finally deciphered and read. "And they say that I have an easy job," groaned the motor club secretary.

Frank Lockhart Is Fatally Hurt As Auto Upsets

Youthful Auto Racer Dies In Hospital After Attempt To Break Speed Record

ACCIDENT OCCURS AT DAYTONA BEACH

Late Racer Termed One Of World's Greatest Speed Merchants; Wife Witnesses Crash

(International News Service)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 25.—Frank Lockhart, one of the world's most famous racing drivers, was fatally injured here shortly after seven o'clock this morning when his car somersaulted as he was making an attempt to break the world's speed record.

Lockhart was thrown clear of the Stutz Blackhawk as it turned over the first time but received injuries from which he died shortly after reaching the hospital.

It was at first believed that the light construction of the front part of his car caused it to "lift" with the powerful rush of wind beneath it, but examination of the car, which was almost demolished, proved that a rear left tire had blown out.

Accident Occurs

Lockhart had gone south on the smooth beach at an estimated speed of about 203 miles an hour, the best time he had recorded in any of his attempts on the record—207 miles an hour—and had started back on the north run when the accident occurred in front of the grandstand.

Last February Lockhart survived a similar accident here, when the car he was driving dived into the ocean and somersaulted. He was rescued from being crushed to death and drowning at that time by another racing driver who went into the water after him.

Yesterday he made six trials but the highest speed he could attain was 191 miles an hour. He was confident he would break the record in today's attempt.

State Democratic Primary Result Indicates Smith Candidates Win

Light Vote Cast In State; Delegates To Convention Are Uninstructed

By C. B. YORKE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 25.—On the face of incomplete unofficial returns it was indicated today that the administration slate had swept its candidates into the Republican nominations for state wide offices and the United States senate by large majorities.

In the senate race, David A. Reed, of Pittsburgh, incumbent, was leading almost four to one over William O. Harper, of Philadelphia, and William S. Adams, of Harrisburg. Republican leaders have practically conceded victory to Charles A. Waters, of Germantown, for the nomination as auditor general. Waters was opposed by Frank P. B. Thompson, of Philadelphia.

Smith Candidates Win.

In the Democratic race for delegates at large to the national convention, early returns today showed six candidates favoring Governor Al Smith of New York leading two of the four anti-Smith candidates by fairly large majorities.

The leading Smith candidates were Gertrude Summer Ely, Lillian D. Bergey, Anna Ewing Cort, Hester M. Fye, Clinton W. Clader, and Thomas J. Minnick. The leading anti-Smith candidates were Norris Hoover and John A. McSparran, according to incomplete returns.

Earthquakes Raise Havoc In Balkans

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 25.—Earthquakes continued to raise havoc in the Balkans today.

Athens was rocked by a severe shock early this morning according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from the Recian capital. No casualties were reported.

The population was panic-stricken and sought the open country for safety. The first shock was followed by several others of minor intensity which were accompanied by rain and hail storms.

The few structures in Corinth which survived Monday's quakes were destroyed by today's shocks, the dispatches stated.

Exceptionally high tides were noted at the seaport of Praieus before and after the shocks.

Governor's Ball Tonight To Precede Formal Opening Of District Conference

DISTRICT GOVERNOR IS EARLY ARRIVAL

Schedule For Two Days Provides Many Features; Entertain Ladies

Headed by W. Charles Wallace, president of the host club, delegations of New Castle Rotarians are, this afternoon, meeting every train that comes into New Castle, greeting the delegates to the annual conference of the 33d district of Rotary, and escorting them to the Scottish Rite Cathedral, where other Rotarians are assisting them to register.

From all over the 33d district, which extends from Johnstown west, with the exception of Erie county, the delegates and their friends are coming into New Castle. Many who are driving through in their cars are being greeted at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, conference headquarters, and at The Castleton, where the conference is quartered, by still other committees of New Castle Rotarians.

District Governor Here

Early in the afternoon Charles F. Uhl of Somerset, who is district governor of Rotary, arrived in the city and was escorted to the Cathedral. Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls, Tex., who is first vice president of Rotary International, is expected on a later train.

At The Castleton, where many delegates and their friends are quartered, a complete sell-out of the house is reported. In some of the rooms three beds have been placed to take care of the crowds.

By far the high point of the conference will come Thursday evening when the annual banquet will be held in the dining rooms of the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Over 1,200 guests will be present at this affair, which will be addressed by Strickland Gillilland. The R. V. B. entertainers will also present several numbers.

Hoover Winner In Primary In Ohio

Smith Designated As Democratic Party Primary Choice In State

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., April 25.—Herbert Hoover and Al Smith have been designated as the preferred presidential candidates by the Republican and Democratic parties of Ohio according to unofficial tabulations on file here today.

The voting was light throughout the state yesterday and except for the battle between supporters of Hoover and the campaigners of the late Senator Frank B. Willis little interest was exhibited.

Both Hoover and Smith were three to one favorite. Former Senator Atlee Pomerene one of the prosecutors in the Teapot Dome oil scandals was Smith's closest rival.

The Republican presidential preference returns from 7,200 of the state's 8,700 precincts gave Hoover 175,000 and the late Senator Willis 65,000, while Al Smith received 24,000 votes in the tabulated 8,000 precincts against 8,000 for Pomerene.

Hoover Backers Appear Jubilant Over Primaries

Important Primaries In Ohio, Massachusetts And Pennsylvania Aid To Hoover

OUTLOOK PLEASANT, SUPPORTERS SAY

Believe Hoover Will Enter Convention With Enough Votes To Win

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Herbert Hoover's forces were jubilantly proclaiming in Washington today that: "Hoover cannot now be stopped".

The decisive victories scored by the cabinet candidate in the Ohio and Massachusetts primaries afforded the basis for their optimism and their confident claims to the nomination at Kansas City.

The exact dimensions of these victories in terms of delegates remain to be disclosed by tabulations in rural districts where the Hoover opposition was strongest, but on the basis of present figures it seems certain that Hoover will have the 39 delegates from Massachusetts and probably 35 of Ohio's delegation of 51.

Standing Boosted

On that basis Hoover has boosted his delegate standing to date to approximately 240, with much favorable Hoover territory yet to be heard from. A majority of the Kansas City convention necessary to nominate is 545. The same tables show his nearest rival, Ex-Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, with 171.

"Nothing can now stop the nomination of Herbert Hoover," said Ex-Congressman James W. Good, who has assumed active charge of headquarters here. "The Ohio and Massachusetts primaries have given the rank and file of the Republicans the first real opportunity to express their choice. They have done so in no uncertain terms.

"In most of the Ohio districts the

Police Plan To Drag River

Chief Horner Says River To Be Searched For Body Of T. J. Gordon

NO DEVELOPMENTS IN SHOOTING CASE

There being no new developments in the case of Thomas J. Gordon of North Cedar street who it is reported jumped into the Shenango river at the Carnegie Steel company intake Monday night after a gun battle with some of the police of the city, Chief of Police C. C. Horner announced this morning that it was planned to drag and search the river at and below the intake for a considerable distance.

It is generally believed now that Gordon must have been drowned when he jumped into the river. The water is not only quite deep at the intake but at the present time it is much deeper and more swift than usual because of the recent wet weather and resulting higher water conditions.

McFadden Ahead Of Mrs. Pinchot, Returns Reveal

(International News Service)

TOWANDA, Pa., April 25.—Unofficial returns from all but a few districts today presaged the defeat of Mrs. Gifford Pinchot for the Republican nomination as representative in the 15th congressional district.

According to returns received here, Louis T. McFadden, incumbent, Mrs. Pinchot's opponent, had a lead of about 2,000 votes at 9 a. m. with only a few districts yet to be heard from.

It was said that Mrs. Pinchot carried Wayne and Pike counties but that McFadden carried Bradford, Susquehanna and Wyoming counties.

Wilkins-Eielson Will Be Brought Home On Steamer

Norwegian Ship Sets Sail For Spitzbergen To Bring Arctic Fliers Back

(International News Service)

COPENHAGEN, April 25.—A Norwegian ship today is on its way to Spitzbergen to bring back Capt. George H. Wilkins and Carl B. Eielson, daring trans-Arctic explorers, who flew over the top of the world from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Green Harbor, Spitzbergen.

The relief ship is the exploration steamer Mina which was built especially to break through the ice floes of the far north. It will try to get into Green Harbor to take the Australian explorer and his American aviation companion on board. If it is able to get through the ice pack, Wilkins and Eielson may be on their way south in five or six days.

The Mina is equipped with wireless and is expected to keep the outside world informed of its progress.

Wilkins and Eielson have abandoned their idea of flying from Spitzbergen to Oslo.

Radio advices from Spitzbergen said that messages of congratulation continue to pour in. The plane has been covered with a tarpaulin and no further attempts are being made to repair the landing gear. Wilkins and Eielson are taking life easy, recuperating from their hazardous flight.

Weingartner Renominated

Richards And Bickett Are Nominees For State Assembly

McCLUNG-ELDER FOR DELEGATES

Sweeping through Lawrence and Beaver counties, State Senator George T. Weingartner, won a decisive victory over Benjamin E. Thompson of Beaver county, his opponent for the Republican nomination for the state senatorship from the two county district, in the Republican party primary election on Tuesday.

Weingartner's total vote in 158 precincts in the two counties heard from out of a total of 179 is 10,846. Thompson's vote in the two counties is 6969. In Lawrence county, Weingartner polled 5255 votes and Thompson 2343 votes. This is a total of 76 precincts out of 81 in the county.

Richards for Assembly

In the race for Representative in the General Assembly, in New Castle, Bart Richards, incumbent, was returned a winner over Martha K. Bigley, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., and Harry M. Long. Richards had a plurality of 636 over Miss Bigley his nearest opponent, his total vote in the twenty seven precincts of the city being 2077 and that of Miss Bigley 1441. This was the first time Miss Bigley ever attempted a race for public office and her showing is a splendid one. Robert M. Strickler, Jr., finished third with 529 votes and Harry M. Lightest Vote Of Many Years

Both City And County Voters Fail To Go To Polls On Tuesday

CONGRESSMAN SWICK WITHOUT OPPOSITION

State Delegates And Senator Reed Receive Almost Total Vote

With few contests facing them, the voters of Lawrence county took little interest in the primary election of Tuesday, April 24, and like practically every other county in Pennsylvania, cast an exceptionally light vote. Not in years has the vote been so light, but likewise, not in years has the state ticket been so free from contest.

Almost every precinct in the county reported the same condition, "can't get them out." The voters had other tasks at hand apparently, and felt that in the majority of cases, it was just a case of swelling the majority. This was equally true of the city and country districts.

Reed For Senator.

In the race for the Republican nomination, the incumbent, David A. Reed, received about 80 per cent of the entire vote cast in the county. His opponents, William O. Harper of Philadelphia and William S. Adams of Harrisburg, staged no contest and the votes they received in this county were the usual scattering vote that any candidate accumulates.

The same was true of the race for auditor-general. Charles A. Waters, at present secretary of labor and industry for Pennsylvania, was offered no opposition by Frank P. B. Thompson of Philadelphia and received about 85 per cent of the entire vote cast in the county. Auditor-General Edward C. Martin was unopposed for nomination for the state treasurership.

For congress, Dr. J. Howard Swick, incumbent, was unopposed and received the entire vote of the county.

Floyd Bennett, Famous Aviator, Dies Of Illness

Pneumonia Fatal To Internationally Known Flier In Quebec Hospital

DEATH HASTENED BY HIS FIDELITY

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's Effort To Save Bennett's Life Futile

(International News Service)

QUEBEC, Que., April 25.—Floyd Bennett, internationally famous aviator and conqueror of the North Pole, died at 10:53 this morning in the Jeffrey Hale hospital of pneumonia, which he had contracted in the line of duty.

Bennett was thirty-eight years old. He was born at Lake George, N. Y., on October 25, 1890, and his present home was in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Flew Over Pole

He was one of the most courageous aviators whose name has been written idelibly in the annals of aviation progress. His greatest achievement was when, as co-pilot for Commander Richard E. Byrd, in 1926, he flew to the North Pole—the first time this epic feat had been accomplished.

Bennett's death was hastened by his fidelity to duty. He was ill when he left Detroit several days ago in the Ford rescue plane which was bringing replacements for the trans-Atlantic Bremen which was forced down on Greenely Island. He was forced to give up the flight when half way and was taken to the hospital in Quebec.

Dramatic Flight Fails

Drama and pathos surrounded last minute efforts to save Bennett's life. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, a comrade of the air, learning that a special serum was needed for the treatment of Bennett, sped in an airplane from Curtiss Field, N. Y., yesterday with the serum, arriving in a raging snow storm at 6:30 last evening. Lindbergh flew as he never flew before, making the distance in record time. The serum, however, was not the kind necessary and his dramatic trip proved in vain.

Lindbergh, who had been nervously waiting at Chateau Frontenac since early morning—he had risen earlier than usual so as to be ready to do anything further that might be within his power—was heart-broken when he heard that Bennett had passed away.

So was Commander Richard E. Byrd, for years a bosom friend of Bennett's. He had already named Bennett as second in command of their expedition this fall to the South Pole.

"I am too grieved for words," said Byrd, tears in his eyes. For days he had been at the hospital, aiding Bennett all he could.

The pamphlets are piled on the office desk, there's a lot of them laying at home, and all of them picture a wonderful spot, in words that nearly a tone. There are spots where the sunshine is always just right, and mosquitos are scare as can be, and I gaze at the pictures and sigh just a bit and think that's the ticket for me. But I gaze at another which talks of the pines and the fishing and golf they enjoy, and I think to myself here's a Paradise sure, what a spot for a summer, oh boy. But there's others I see with an equal appeal, those pamphlets of summer resorts, with their pictures of damsels brunettes and some blondes, who are squired by hot looking sports. Oh these vacation pamphlets I love to peruse, they give me a thrill I must say, but the cost of the places is something again, it's up, fifty-seven today.

Judge Dismisses Dempsey's Suit Against Kearns

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, April 25.—Jack Kearns, manager, assumed a prize fighter's role today and slipped a $500,000 k. o. over on Jack Dempsey.

Federal Judge Knox on motion of Arthur M. Sager, Kearns' counsel, dismissed Dempsey's counter-suit against his former manager for $500,000 and an accounting under their 1923 contract. The fact of the counter-suit had almost been forgotten in the trial of Kearns' claim for $701,026.60 against Dempsey.

Later on he met Miss Meredith Howard, the twin sister, and fell violently in love with her.

The show moved on. LeRoy followed, in love with one of the twins first, then off with this and in love with the other. The attraction covered the United States—so did LeRoy.

Then it moved to Cuba. LeRoy was right along. Back to the United States—and by this time the twins were hoping that the French Canadian Romeo would make up his mind.

Parents Step In

The attraction moved to Canada—LeRoy's native heath. Then storm clouds loomed, and temperamental differences cropped up. If LeRoy became engaged to one of the twins, he faced court action from the other, and vice versa.

LeRoy's parents talked about tightening up on the weekly allowance. The girls talked about their careers—Broadway and the Follies.

ROTARY HOSTS ARE ARRIVING FOR CONFERENCE

Friday afternoon, will be the district governor's ball, to take place this evening at 8:30 in the ballroom of the Scottish Rite Cathedral. As many of the Rotarians who will attend the conference will be driving into New Castle in automobiles, this function will be informal. It is requested that the New Castle Rotarians be present about an hour earlier than the scheduled time, so they can help greet their fellow club members from other cities.

Walter D. Cline, first vice president of Rotary International, is scheduled to make an address before the conference Thursday morning, April 26, at 11:20 in the auditorium of the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Preceding Mr. Cline's speech the past governors to the 33d district will be presented to the conference.

Balloting for the next governor of the 33d district, who is to be elected at the conference, will take place Friday from 12:15 to two o'clock. The report of the election will be heard during the afternoon session.

For the ladies who attend the conference a special program has been arranged by a committee headed by Mrs. Jacob F. Rentz. Included in this will be a visit to the Shenango Pottery Thursday morning; an inspection of Westminster College and a tea Thursday afternoon; a breakfast bridge at The Castleton Friday morning and the presentation of "The Tightwad", by the New Castle Senior High school Friday afternoon. The high school orchestra will also play at this time.

Thursday evening, just before the banquet, Karl L. Kuechler, organist, will give a short concert in the auditorium of the Cathedral.

SENATOR REED IS RENOMINATED, RETURNS SHOW

tional committeeman, issued a statement in Pittsburgh claiming 66 of the state's 76 national delegates for Smith. Smith opposition, however, led by Vance C. McCormick, Harrisburg publisher, discounted the claims because of the lack of final definite figures.

McFadden Leading.

In the 15th Congressional District where Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the former governor, is opposing Louis T. McFadden, incumbent, for the Republican nomination, McFadden was leading by a slight majority early today. Throughout the night the returns showed that the lead changed frequently, but at no time was either candidate ahead by more than 100 votes.

The Republican candidates for delegate at large to the national convention were unopposed and will go to Kansas City uninstructed. They were: William L. Mellon, of Pittsburgh; James J. Davis, of Pittsburgh; John S. Fisher, of Indiana; William D. B. Ainey, of Montrose; William S. Vare, of Philadelphia; Andrew W. Mellon, of Pittsburgh; and Marian Margery Scranton, of Scranton.

Edward Martin, of Washington, who was running for the state treasurer nomination, and William D. Porter, of Pittsburgh, who was seeking the nomination for judge of superior court, were unopposed, both are Republicans.

The Democratic candidate for the senatorial nomination, William N. McNair, was unopposed as were the Democratic candidates for state wide offices. Edward J. Morris was seeking the state treasurer nomination, Clinton B. Eilenberger, auditor general, and James P. Rossiter, judge of superior court.

Miss Wilson Leads.

In the 16th Congressional District, early returns gave Miss Agnes Wilson, daughter of William B. Wilson, Democratic candidate for United States senator in 1926, a slight lead over Edgar R. Kiess for the Democratic nomination. Kiess was unopposed for the Republican nomination and also entered the Democratic contest.

Incomplete returns from the 13th Congressional district where Frank L. Brumm, former congressman, supported by former state treasurer, Charles A. Snyder, is opposing Cyrus E. Palmer, incumbent, supported by Paul W. Houck, chairman of the state workmen's compensation board, gave Brumm a slight lead.

In Allegheny county, the home of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and State Republican Chairman W. L. Mellon, returns indicated an easy victory for the regular Republican ticket. U. S. Senator David A. Reed was leading his field by approximately 10-1. All other candidates backed by the administration party also received large majorities.

Six Enter Pleas Of No Defense In Election Frauds

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—Six men today pleaded no defense to a charge of negligence when they served on election boards in Pittsburgh last September just as the trial of 15 election board members, charged with irregularities in office, was scheduled to start in criminal court here.

The six who pleaded no defense will be sentenced next Monday, it was announced by Judge Harry Rowand.

The charges against the nine other defendants will be dropped, it was announced, following a conference between defense and prosecution counsel.

The fifteen were members of the election boards of the second district, 25th ward; 33rd district.

HOOVER BACKERS APPEAR JUBILANT OVER PRIMARIES

machinery was anti-Hoover. The state organization threw the full weight of its influence against him. In full page advertisements in Ohio newspapers the people were informed that a vote against Hoover meant a vote for Dawes or Lowden or Hughes. It was the field against Hoover, and Hoover won."

Hoover's present delegate strength from those states that have acted, and in one way or another signified their choice for the Republican nomination at Kansas City, follows:

Georgia, 16; Iowa, 2; Kentucky, 29; Louisiana, 12; Maine, 15; Michigan, 33; Minnesota, 4; Missouri, 6; New Hampshire, 12; North Carolina, 6; Oregon, 13 (only Hoover field); Rhode Island, 12; Virginia, 15; Wisconsin, 4. Add to these the 39 from Massachusetts and indicated 35 from Ohio and the total is 253.

States still to act and claimed positively for Hoover are Alabama, 15; California, 29; Colorado, 15; Connecticut, 17; Maryland, 19; Mississippi, 12; New Jersey, 31; Tennessee, 19; Texas, 26; Washington, 17. Total, 200, and the grand total of 453.

To these claims the Hoover forces add 60 from Pennsylvania and at least 47 from New York, which, if ultimately borne out would push the commerce secretary across the line with 560 or five more than a majority.

Opposition Downcast

The opposition to Hoover admittedly was somewhat downcast over the situation today, but there was no indication that the fight is to be lessened in any way. On the contrary, it probably will be pursued with renewed vigor now that the seriousness of the situation, from the opposition standpoint, is apparent.

The rain belt opposition to Hoover, at any rate, is steadily growing stronger and is being pushed vigorously from the basis that "Hoover cannot beat Smith". In this connection Senator McMaster (R) of South Dakota said today:

"It would be very difficult to put Herbert Hoover over in the Middle West if he is the Republican nominee. I believe Al Smith would defeat him if they were the opposing nominees.

"The farmers of the Middle West are convinced that Herbert Hoover was part and parcel of the price-fixing in wheat which robbed them of billions of dollars during the war. They know Hoover acquiesced in it and never protested against it. During the present campaign he has not offered a single constructive suggestion for agriculture, and on farm relief he remains silent."

Smith Gains Strength

The same primaries of yesterday in Ohio, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, which boosted Hoover's delegate strength also gave a tremendous impetus to the Smith movement on the Democratic side.

Smith's generally accepted delegate strength in those states which have acted prior to yesterday was 362, scattered as follows:

Arizona, 6; Arkansas, 8; Idaho, 8; Illinois, 50; Iowa, 26; Louisiana, 20; Maine, 12; Michigan, 30; Minnesota, 24; New Hampshire, 8; New York, 90; North Dakota, 10; Oklahoma, 12; Rhode Island, 10; Washington, 14; Wisconsin, 20; Alaska, 6; Philippines, 6; Virgin Islands, 2—total 362.

On the basis of yesterday's balloting it seemed certain today that the New York governor will have the 36 from Massachusetts, an indicated 48 from Ohio after complimentary balloting for Ex-Senator Atlee Pomerene, and his friends claimed at least 60 out of Pennsylvania's 76. This would add 144 additional votes for Smith and send him across the five hundred mark to 506. A total of 735 1-2 votes is necessary to nominate at Houston.

Burglars Rob Smith's Store

Approximately $750 Worth Of Goods Taken From Hardware Store

GUNS AND RIFLES PRINCIPAL LOOT

Thieves, who gained an entrance into the C. Ed Smith Hardware company store, East Washington street, shotguns, rifles and fishing rods valued at $750.

Entrance was effected by climbing up a fire escape in the rear of the store to a second floor window, where a window, held down by a stick, was forced by means of using an augur to bore through the window frame and force out the stick.

Once entrance was effected, the thieves went downstairs to the sport goods department just inside the left front entrance, where they selected seven shotguns, six rifles and nine fishing rods from the display cases.

The thieves departed by a rear first floor door, the lock of which they forced and broke in getting out.

Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch investigated the theft, which was first discovered early this morning by a clerk opening up the store. He immediately called the police.

It is the opinion of the police authorities, that the thieves had an automobile, which was used in carting away the loot.

Surrounding cities and towns have been notified of the theft.

Marathon Dancers Continue Grind In Pittsburgh Contest

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—Weakened by more than a day and a half of continuous dancing, the survivors of the national championship dance marathon did the shuffle to the grinding tune of a phonograph here today.

Fifteen couples remained 36 hours after the beginning of the elimination contest, but 36 had packed up their worn shoes and liniment bottles and retired to catch up on lost sleep.

Even the spectators seemed to be out for the championship in marathon watching. Of the 200 or more present many have "stood by" almost since the beginning, cheering on their favorites and attempting to revive them from the exhaustion which grows more evident each hour.

LIGHTEST VOTE OF MANY YEARS

save for an occasional name which was written into the ballot. For state committee, Attorney Clyde V. Ailey was unopposed and received the entire vote.

Delegates-at-Large Unopposed.

For delegates-at-large and alternate delegates-at-large, there was no opposition to the slate set up by the state committee and these candidates received almost the entire vote of the county at large. One candidate, William S. Vare, was cut by many of the voters here. The delegates-at-large who will represent Pennsylvania in the national convention of the Republican party in Kansas City in June follow: James J. Davis, William L. Mellon, Governor John S. Fisher, William D. B. Ainey, Marion Margery Scranton, William S. Vare and Andrew W. Mellon. The alternates-at-large are all women and follow: Mary B. Warburton, Hannah M. Durham, Lecna Stevenson Purple, Gertrude Franz Stauffer, Augusta Brown Fleming, Daisy E. Lampkin, Rosa M. Ward.

As has been said before, the vote through the entire county was woefully light. In the city of New Castle the total was not much over 4500, and in the county outside the city it will probably not run over 3600.

DAYLIGHT SAVINGS TIME PROGRAM

ANNOUNCEMENT made yesterday that the industries of New Castle have agreed upon a new plan for observing of daylight savings in New Castle, this summer, one which provides for the so-called fast time for only three months, is believed to be one that will go a long way towards solving the annual controversy over the matter in this city.

Observing daylight savings time during June, July and August, and eliminating it in May and September, under the new plan, removes much of the objection to the old program, and yet allows for the real benefits that accrue under the daylight savings plan.

By not changing the time until the first Sunday of June, and changing back to Eastern Standard time again the first Sunday of September, the public school schedule is not interferred with, and there is no long drawn out termination of the time changing schedule in September, which has been one of the greatest drawbacks to the plan.

It is believed that the short perid of daylight savings time observance, during the three real summer months, June, July and August, as planned this year, will be acceptable to a large majority of the citizens and that this new plan will receive hearty co-operation.

THE HABITUAL CRIMINAL

BY A rather common consent the criminal and administration of criminal justice are America's greatest present problems. There is Herrin, for instance, and Chicago's savage "beer wars," the "bootleg racket," and the hijackers and those specialists in machine-gun murder, as well as the middle and lower grades of crime, which are always with us.

This situation is resulting in laws of greater severity. There is a tendency to lock up, for good and all, the repeated and notorious offender and have done with his depredations. Habitual-criminal laws are becoming a part of the armor and arsenal of society's fight against crime.

There is nothing new about such acts. From time to time society is made to realize that some of its members are away from home every day they are away from jail. Old laws of this kind are being made more drastic. States that in the past have not felt their need are feeling it now.

Several states are rigidly enforcing statutes imposing life sentences on old offenders. After the third or fourth conviction for felonies the criminal is looked upon by the law as unregenerate and placed where he can no longer prey upon his fellow men.

The largest of Pennsylvania cities are surprisingly law-abiding in comparison with New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, and yet judges and prosecuting attorneys of the state seem to be of the opinion that conditions here justify and demand enactment of a law patterned after the much discussed Baumes Act of New York.

THE TWIN, MENACE

THE WITTICISM, "Every year is leap year for the pedestrian," may soon be retired with other outlived jokes. Pictures of elderly gentlemen leaping frantically to safety at the blast of automobile horns; of younger folk scurrying to the sidewalks as cars dash across intersections; of timid folk waiting vainly for a break in the traffic stream, may all become things of the past. Traffic engineers and city planners are finally joining with safety workers in efforts to assure personal security to the man or the woman who walks.

Municipal authorities throughout Pennsylvania are working for the elimination of the two most troublesome traffic minorities—jaywalkers and reckless drivers. Once they have accomplished this streets will be safe for both pedestrians and motorists. Motorists are included in this last statement for the reason that the jaywalker endangers the heart and nerves of the careful driver as much as the reckless driver endangers the life of the careful pedestrian.

When will pedestrians and motorists learn that traffic policemen and signals are for their protection and convenience? And when will all traffic policemen learn to mane pedestrians and drivers feel that the police are trying to help, not hinder, them?

Many lives will be saved in Pennsylvania between now and the end of the summer motoring season if every pedestrian goes half way and every motorist comes half way to meet him. A congested thoroughfare is a poor place to stand by one's rights. There is too little of the "My Dear Gaston" and "after you, Mr. Hooligan" attitude among walkers and riders.

NEW COMET

ASTRONOMERS of the Observatory of Paris report a new comet in the skies. It is evidently an Irish comet, for it was observed first on March 17.

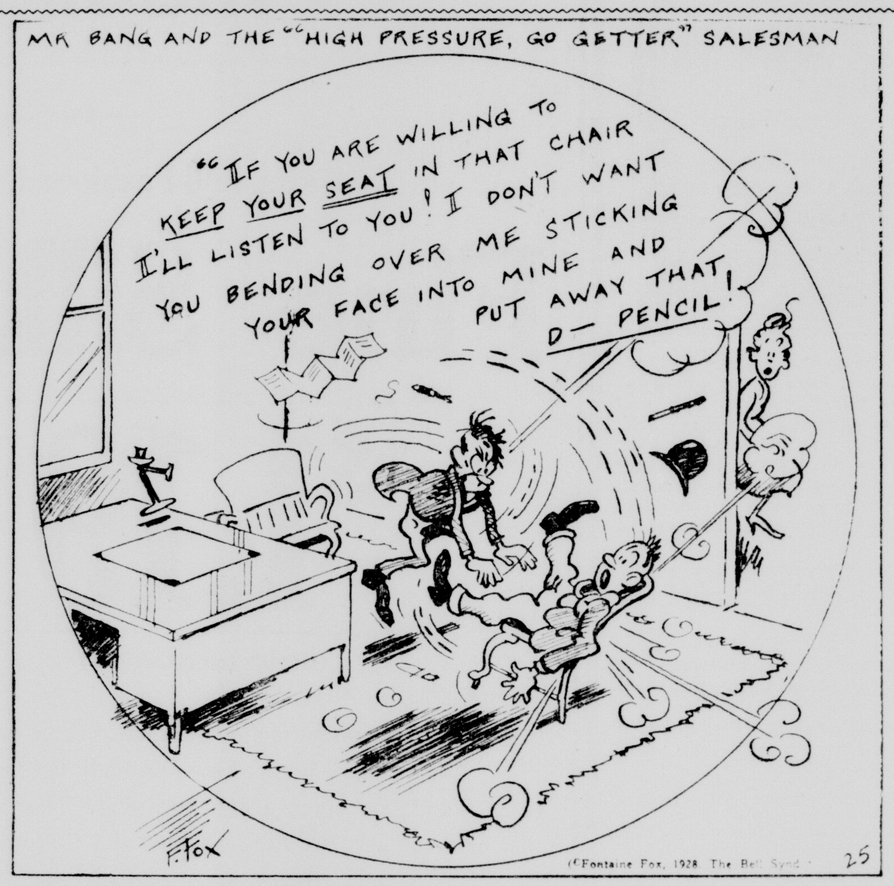

The world, however, pays little heed. We're fed up on comets, and utterly disillusioned. There hasn't been any such celestial apparition big enough to give us a thrill for a generation. Even the famous Halley's comet, when it returned the last time, was shorn of its cosmic tresses—utterly bald-headed. Every new comet heralded by astronomers for years has proved a dud. This last specimen is so insignificant that it can only be seen by using a big telescope and taking a photograph of it with a twenty-minute exposure.

The Universe must be running out of comets.

True temperance is the begin-at-home virtue. It begins with our own meat and drink of life.

No man can live among others and take no padt in their lives. He must influence them—whether for good or for evil is for him to decide.

MOTHER FINDS GIRL HANGING.

A fatal step may end the happy life. The most cultured, refined, beautiful and best loved are no exception to the same fate. A father's devotion, a mother's fond care and love or a brother's or sister's companionship will not shield them when they desire to take the step.

Such was the illustration last evening when one of the highest educated and vivacious girls was found hanging in the home parlor, surrounded by all the luxuries that go to make a happy life. Late in the evening she was missed and careful search failed to reveal her whereabouts.

The telephone was used without results. Her friends were called to help search for her. Finally the almost heartbroken mother returned to the parlor and there to her horror and surprise, she found her beloved girl hanging.

How must that mother been affected by what met her gaze! It had been years, according to neighborhood gossip, since the town grouch had uttered an unnecessary word, except to his dog and his banker. If a spark of sociability existed in him, it was said, it was for the dog. So when the animal appeared on the streets one day with its master, and minus its tail, the banker was appointed a committee of one to find out what the trouble was.

"What became of your dog's tail?" quizzed the banker.

"Chopped it off," replied the grouch. "He was always waggin' it at somebody."

Tunney on Shakespeare.
Another Flood? Maybe.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Gene Tunney, world champion, told the Yale boys about Shakespeare Monday, invited by Professor Phelps.

Tunney wondered "whether Shakespeare would be a boxing fan". Probably not. But he described real fighting, without a purse, better than anybody.

"Imitate the action of the tiger;
Stiffen the sinews, summon up the blood,
Disguise fair nature with hard-favour'd rage,
Then lend the eye a terrible aspect;
Let it pry through the portage of the head,
Like the brass cannon; let the brow o'erwhelm it. . . .
Now set the teeth, and stretch the nostril wide;
Hold hard the breath, and bend up every spirit
To his full height!"

Dempsey used to do all that—and more.

Flood waters of the White river have overswept levees, sweeping through five counties in Arkansas. In Mississippi the Tombigbee and Luxapalilla rivers are nearing the danger stage. More rain today would mean serious danger.

THE CHURCH QUARREL

Men have always fought and some say they always will. But if there is one place where there should be no fighting it is the church.

Fighting is bad anywhere. Wars between nations are wasteful and foolish. Under the influence of supposed patriotism thousands of young men are slaughtered over a dispute that in almost all cases might have been settled in some other way. Statesmen that are very carful to preserve the resources of the country seem sometimes to be very careless with the real power of their country, which is its man power. Men meet to kill and maim one another simply because their governors have quarreled.

Colton says, "Princes sometimes need wars, but peoples never."

Industrial wars are almost as bad as national ones. Just stop to think about it and you will see how silly it is for people all of whom are engaged in production, to fight one another. Their interests are the same and upon the prosperity of their work depend their profits. They imperil those profits because of personal pique. Strikes and lockouts are a poor way to get justice.

Family quarrels are often unavoidable and oftentimes the intimacies of personal intercourse result in a clash of personalities.

But church quarrels are the most deplorable. Yet singularly enough they are often the most bitter.

I was recently a witness to a church quarrel in which one faction was opposed to the administration of the pastor, and in order to oust him brought forward the most shameful accusations against him, accusations that never would have been dreamed of in the affairs of a club or lodge.

What do men seek to gain by a conflict in the church, after all? They would gain a temporary victory connected with the administrations of the affairs of the institution. But when they have gained it how much are they advantaged?

They have satisfied their own personal rancor, but have defeated the very ends for which the church was founded. For the church is essentially a peace maker. It is a division of the army of the Prince of Peace. It represents the truth that the world can only be advanced by co-operation and conciliation and can only be held back by dissension.

It would seem that in all church quarrels if the opposing parties fully realized the spirit of their Master and that spirit which suffers all things and endureth all things, that most excellent spirit of charity to which St. Paul alludes, there would be no quarrels.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE FIRST PRINCIPLE

The first bridges built by man were one-piece affairs, being trees felled across small streams. Now the busy engineer is making bridges of one-piece steel! That sounds like a fairy tale, but man's ingenuity can now join many pieces of steel into one piece without the use of bolts, nuts and rivets.

The bridge which carries the Boston & Maine Railroad over the Chicopee Falls, Mass., is the first railroad bridge in the world to be erected by the arc-welding process. There is not a rivet or a bolt in this bridge. It was built by fusing the various members together at their joints by means of the intense heat of the electric arc. The bridge is, therefore, actually a one-piece structure.

The outstanding advantage secured by the use of arc-welding, as compared with riveting, is a saving of approximately 33 per cent of the tonnage of steel required. This saving is secured in two ways. In the first place, the size of many of the truss members, connecting parts and floor stringers have been reduced and yet provide strength equal to that of an equivalent riveted job because there is no weakening due to rivet holes; secondly, a considerable amount of connecting parts and lattice bars, which would be needed for riveting, have been omitted.

Other advantages gained are saving in time of fabrication in the steel shops, as there was no complicated system of rivet holes to be laid out and drilled; a smoother surface, making painting easier and reducing possibilities of rust, elimination of objectionable noise during construction, of special importance in connection with work being done in the cities; and probably greater permanence.

Although not an Engineer, I have heard Engineers talk about expansion and contraction, which play a large part in all construction work. No doubt the builders of this Railroad Bridge have also taken that into consideration.

Just Folks

TO THE BOY

This is what I'd have you be,
Son of mine,
Happy, independent, free,
sturdy, fine.
Willing, cheerful, brave of heart
Clear of thought, but not too smart.

Play the game and play to win
Son of mine.
But when failure drags you in
Never whine.
When your best will hardly do,
Don't let shame get hold of you.

Keep your head in pleasure's hour,
Son of mine.
There are needed for the flower:
Rain and shine.
Many a plant which might have bloomed
Was by too much sunshine doomed.

Live your life as best you can
Son of mine.
Play the friend and play the man.
Hold the line.
Care and pleasure you will meet
But in either never cheat.

Take the loss and take the gain
Son of mine.
With the wisdom to remain
Free from sign
Of the coward mind which shows
How it magnifies its woes.

Be you clean and be you fair,
Son of mine.
Never shirk what is your share,
Straight as pine.
Face whatever comes, erect,
And you'll win all men's respect.

CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

PUTTING UP A FRONT

Nelson Antrim Crawford was an instructor in journalism at the Kansas State Agricultural College when I was doing newspaper work in Kansas. He used to speak at the meetings of the Authors club of the state once a year perhaps, and it was evident to an observer that here was a fellow destined to make something of a dent in the surface of our perdurable globe. He appeared from time to time in the good magazines, and his point of view was that of a cultured individual who knows something besides the operation of a slide-rule for computing income.

Crawford has written a book, "A Man of Learning." It is a satirical picture of a college president of the 1928 model—a money-raiser, go-getter, inspirer of big conferences.

This book will get Mr. Crawford a good deal of abuse. I can hear the stock argument against such a work:

"It's unfair. It doesn't picture the average college president. There may be some like the one in Crawford's book, but not many. And there are hundreds of real scholars and sober executives at the heads of our colleges."

That's not the way to size up a book. Mr. Crawford at no time or place has ever said that this is the portrait of the average college president. It isn't. A picture of the average college president would be an average book. Mr. Crawford has pictured a type which exists, but is not average. Neither is his book average.

I heard literally hundreds of persons condemn "Elmer Gantry" because it was unfair to the average minister or evangelist. But Mr. Lewis, who wrote that book, never said his character, Gantry, was an average preacher, a common preacher. Had the character been average or ordinary there would have been no point in writing a book about him. Lewis was not drawing a picture of a typical preacher, any more than Dickens was picturing an average and typical Englishman in Mr. Pecksniff.

So please don't condemn Crawford's "A Man of Learning" on the ground that it casts discredit upon the college presidents of the land. It doesn't. It caricatures the college president who is a stuffed shirt. It sketches broadly the important executive who spends his whole lifetime putting up a front. It is an amusing book. Not a great book nor an immortal work, but a thing to read and chuckle over if you like good satire, good-humoredly presented.

Nelson Antrim Crawford is on the way. He will write something in the next ten years that will be worth binding in full leather and putting into a slip-case—after reading it a couple of times.

Extremely Light Vote Cast By Pennsylvanians Tuesday In Spring Primary

SECTIONAL FIGHTS MOST INTERESTING

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH April 5—An indication of the general lack of interest in yesterday's primaries was seen here in the fact that not a single vote was cast in the 14th district of the 21st ward, Northside. Four members of the election board were convicted of ballot frauds last week.

BRADFORD—Incomplete returns indicated today that Thomas B. Wilson of Bradford, won the Republican nomination for the state house of representatives over E. G. Potter of Smethport, by a two-to-one majority. A bond issue for a new junior high school in Bradford was defeated.

UNIONTOWN — S. Ray Shelby, member of the Pennsylvania Public Service commission, and John R. Byrne today appeared as probable winners of the nomination of delegates to the Republican national convention from Fayette county. JOHNSTOWN—Returns today from 95 districts showed that Jay R. Sheesley, World war veteran, was leading George T. Robinson, coal operator, for the Republican nomination for state senator from Cambria county. George S. Fockler and Paul Cauffiel apparently had won the Republican nominations for state assemblyman. Joseph T. Kelly, Johnstown and Judge John McCann, Ebensburg, were nominated without opposition as delegates to the Democratic national convention.

GREENSBURG—Only 30 per cent of the registered vote was cast in Tuesday's election, the quietest in Westmoreland county's history, it was estimated today by County Republican Chairman Arthur F. Thomas. Anna W. M. Ogden and William S. Rial had no opposition for the Republican state committee.

SHARON—With the vote from only 30 precincts in Mercer county reported, Rev. These were the only contested offices. The lightest vote in the county's history was reported.

American Taste Leads World Style

By ALICE LANGELIER

PARIS, April 25.—"American taste in women's clothes is leading the world today," says Marjorie Lou, young American woman who has made a big success as a Parisian dressmaker. "By this I do not mean that New York or any other American city would set up a style dictatorship. The modelling of dresses is essentially a French institution. In Paris one talks and breathes style and its sway over fashion is secure.

"Nevertheless, this sway is being influenced by America. The models that please Americans are the ones that are sold. Whether it is the influence of the universal popularity of the American movies, or the increasing travel of smartly-dressed American women—at any rate—the women of other countries are following the taste of America."

REV. SCHNEBLY IS SPEAKER OF DAY

Ten members of Post number 100, Grand army of the Republic, were the guests of the New Castle Kiwanis club at a luncheon which took place at noon today in the main dining room of the Elks club.

Dr. Charles B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, introduced Rev. Daniel Schnebly of Mahoningtown, as the speaker of the day.

"All of us feel that the rapidly thinning ranks of those Civil war veterans calls for an exhibition of concern for those who made the nation, as a whole possible," asserted Mr. Schnebly. "We are deeply sensitive about the debt that we owe these men, for it was by their deeds that the Union was preserved. Because of them, these United States can now take a place with the foremost nations of the world.

"The past is not so far away. These veterans can remember their campaigning vividly; and with sorrow they can remember comrades who died so that the Union might be preserved."

Dr. Schnebly continued, emphasizing the point that the nation as a whole cannot be indifferent to anything, because indifference soon ruins a people. He further cautioned against smug content and despair with present conditions.

For the men of the Grand army of the Republic who were present at the luncheon, Adjutant C. B. Hamilton answered. Following a vote of thanks to the veterans, proposed by William Nunn, the meeting was dismissed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

New Afghan Capital To Be Modern City; To Have Railroads

(International News Service)

KABUL, April 25.—Great progress is being made with the new capital Darulaman, near Kabul, which has been planned on the most modern lines.

The buildings being erected compare favorably with any in the European continent. Electricity generating stations and an ice factory are being built, the machinery for these having recently arrived.

The mail and passenger air service instituted as an experiment between Kabul and Tashkent, in Russia Turkestan, has been working regularly. This service is a joint Afghan-Russian one. The pilots from Kabul have been trained in Russia and Germany. Those from Tashkent are Russians.

From the sale of concessions to work minerals it is hoped that sufficient money will be raised to finance the construction of several projected railroad lines.

Travelers report that in the southern districts of Afghanistan, tribesmen, whose ancestral trade was loot, have now turned to agriculture and are co-operating with the Government in furthering industry. The tribesmen, they say, are now sending their sons to school and asking the government for more educational institutions.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

business is powerful as far as South American trade is concerned.

PHOTOGRAPHING THOUGHTS

Now they are talking about photographing thoughts. That might be terrible. Who can stand to have his thoughts—the majority of them—photographed? What do you say? Try it on yourself. How many of the thoughts you have had today would you just as soon have recorded where all might see? And we ARE our thoughts. Our actions may not truly represent us. Our thoughts do.

RE-AMERICANIZING

Senator Vandenberg, Michigan, says the whole body of our people—not just the foreign born—need re-Americanization. He is right indeed. Many who came from across the sea have a greater love for and a greater appreciation of our institutions than some whose grandfathers were born here. Allegiance to the principles upon which the American government is founded can come from anybody anywnere.

NOT DULL

Business is not bad, taken as a whole. Interesting figures show that one-seventh of the trade of the world is done by the United States.

SPANKING

Modern thought tends to be against physical punishment for children. And probably modern thought in this respect is right. Bad reactions are likely to come from whipping children. Before you resort to that sort of punishment you ought to be pretty sure of the temperament of the child. Fact remains that the old-fashioned discipline apparently didn't hurt a lot of good men. John D. Rockefeller used to be spanked by his grandfather, so he says. John D. Jr. not only got it from his father but he also received the expert attention of his grandfather. And both Rockefellers have done fairly well despite a spanking handicap.

Her Health Came Back Soon After She Got Konjola

New Medicine Ended Years Of Kidney and Liver Troubles; States This Lady

MRS. LAURA L. FULTON
Seavy Photo

Many of the well known residents of New Castle and vicinity are telling how this remarkable medicine, Konjola, is delivering them from their health troubles. The Konjola Man, who is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., this city, is explaining this compound to over a hundred people throughout each day, and at the same time, many already benefited are giving their indorsement of this medicine.

One of the latest statements came from Mrs. Laura L. Fulton, 110½ North Liberty St., this city.

"This is the first time in my life to ever praise a medicine to the public", said Mrs. Fulton, "and I want to indorse Konjola because it completely restored my health after everything else failed.

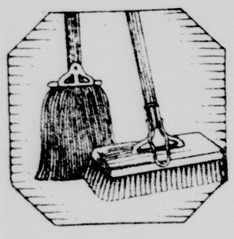

"I was suffering every day with kidney trouble. Nothing that I ever took or did for that ailment, would do me the least bit good. As the days passed my condition grew all the worse. My lower limbs would swell up to almost twice their size and sometimes I could hardly get around the house. There seemed to be a constant pain across the small of my back. At night I would have to rise several times and this broke up my rest so that I was always tired and worn-out. Because of sluggish liver, my entire body was broken out with a rash. This caused me so much suffering that I often thought I would go wild. All during the day I had splitting headaches that felt as if a thousand needles were sticking in my head. I always felt tired and draggy—just like I was only half-living.

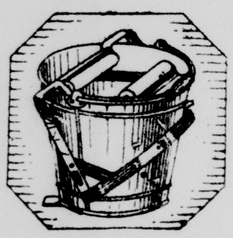

"In this condition I went to the Konjola Man and found out about this medicine. I was merely told that it had helped others in my condition and that it most likely would help me. I have only taken two bottles but I feel as if I never had a sick day in my life. Konjola regulated and strengthened my kidneys so that my limbs never swell. The awful pains in my back have never returned since I started taking this medicine and I enjoy sound and all night sleep. My liver is functioning the way it should and the rash has cleared up, in fact, my complexion is better now than it has been for a long time. The medicine has helped me so much to gain new and glorious health and that is my reason for indorsing it".

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

The Basic Soundness of Public Utility Securities

NO better testimony to the basic soundness of public utility securities can be cited than the great increase in the holdings of such securities by the banks and insurance companies during the last ten years.

Insurance companies now own over 900 millions and the holdings of banks—state, national and private—amount to 1,150 millions. A total of over 2 billion dollars now held by these institutional investors.

The insurance companies and the banks of the country are competent authorities in financial matters. They recognize that safety—the prime asset of the utilities—is assured by the permanent nature of their assets. They perceive the great and growing market for utility services and realize the steady earning power which is assured by the indispensible character of the industries.

It is these basic elements that are influencing careful investors to buy preferred stocks of light and power companies for dependable income investment.

Erie Will Send Big Delegation

Plans To Offer Stiff Competition To School Musicians At Grove City

That the city of Erie will have a large representation of junior and senior high school musicians at the Northwestern Pennsylvania high school musical contest to be held at Grove City on May 3, is manifested in the list of organizations that will compete at that time, which has just been received by LaVerne E. Irvine, head of music in the local high schools.

The list shows that the Roosevelt and Gridley junior high schools will send orchestras to the meet as well as the junior high unit of the Academy high school.

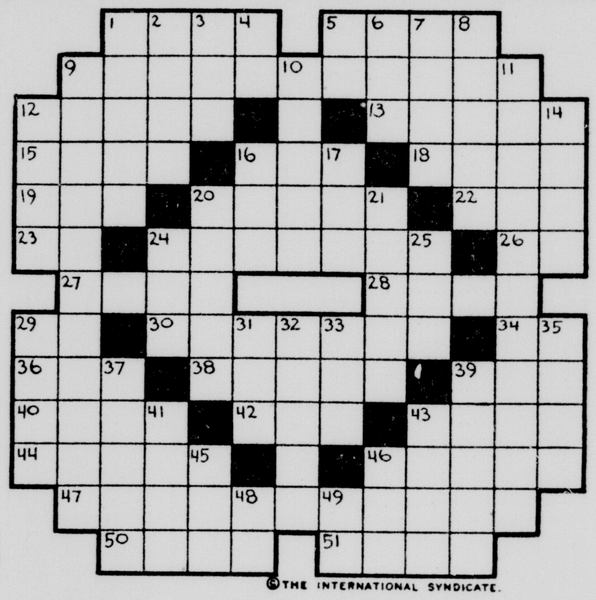

The Academy, Central and Erie East high schools will each send a girls' glee club, and in addition Academy will send their boys' glee club and a mixed chorus.

East High, Academy and Central are also sending class a orchestras while only one band will be entered from Erie that being the Academy band, which took first place in the state last year.

Mr. Irvine states that Erie is sending the largest delegation of participants to the contest, having already chartered a special train for its musical caravan to Grove City.

At Eleven of the eighteen Republican national convention thus far held, the presidential nomination has been awarded on the first ballot.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

A FLYING TRAP

"Whip-poor-will! Whip-poor-will! Whip-poor-will!"

Again and again the mournful cry came floating over the pasture and each time it sounded nearer.

"I do believe that Whip-poor-will is coming this way!" Peter looked up, thinking to see the fellow sailing in the sky above him. But Peter's companion shook his head.

"I don't think he will come this way—not as early in the evening as this," chirped he. "You see, Whip-poor-will has just started hunting and probably he is very hungry, after having little to eat all day.

"My, but you ought to see that bird catch moths! He just dotes on them. I eat moths once in a while, but for a steady diet give me mosquitoes. Let Whip-poor-will set his heart on a leaf-eating beetle and the poor thing hasn't a chance to escape. I am rather proud of my own mouth, but it is nothing compared to his. Whip-poor-will's mouth is enormous—I wouldn't dare go too near it myself when it was open for fear I might fall in! All around it are bristles that sweep the insects from the air right into Whip-poor-will's jaws as he flies low over the undergrowth and among the trees. His mouth is really a trap, and the best part of it is the insects never discover it until it is too late."

"I expect the insects would say 'the worst part'," laughed the boy. "Now that you have told me all about Whip-poor-will, talk a little about yourself. Who are you, anyhow?"

"Good gracious, haven't I told you? Now isn't that forgetful of me! I am a wise old bird, Two-Legs, and have heard and seen much in my day.

"I am Nighthawk. Shirk! Shirk! (That means 'too bad' in my language, you know.) Unlucky was my family to be given such a name. You have no idea what a hard time of it we Nighthawks have had trying to live down a bad reputation. And we are not a bad lot in spite of what folks say about us. We have no talons and our beak is not hooked—it's as straight as can be. We are not birds of prey any more than we are birds of the night. Because we do not roost until after twilight and have many friends among the nightfliers and bear the name of Nighthawks we are dreadfully misunderstood. However, there is no use worrying about that. Say, boy, what do you see on that rock over there? Unless my eyes deceive me, there stand my wife and baby. What can they be doing so far from home?"

"I LET WHIP-POOR-WILL SET HIS HEART ON A MOTH AND IT HASN'T A CHANCE TO ESCAPE"

The boy looked in the direction that Nighthawk was pointing and sure enough on a flat slab of stone stood a bird that Peter guessed at once must be Mrs. Nighthawk—she looked so much like his companion. And cuddling to her side—just as close as it could squeeze—nestled a downy chick. So motionless were mother and babe standing and so nearly did their coats match the slab that the boy had to strain his eyes to see them. Nighthawk chuckled.

"Pretty clever, those two, aren't they? They heard your voice, boy, and they are hiding."

Next—"Hiding in the Open."

BRAKES

cause accidents or prevent them

—which kind are yours?

It only takes one skid—one emergency in which brakes fail to hold—to cause an accident. It might be slight—perhaps a jammed fender—and it might cost a life. Why gamble with chance? Brakes, out of balance or not equalized will cause a car to skid to the right or left. Four-wheel brakes—when out of adjustment—add no more to your ability to stop than two-wheel brakes. Your car is only as safe as its brakes. Keep them in perfect adjustment.

We have installed a new JUMBO Giant Brake Tester that scientifically tests two or four-wheel brakes. Use our accurate test every 1500 miles. If adjustments are needed we will make them quickly—at a very reasonable charge.

See For Yourself

Right before your eyes—on accurate hydraulic gauges—the JUMBO Brake Tester reveals the true condition of the brake on each wheel. Eliminates all chance for human error—no guesswork. Assures positive equalization and perfect balance of brakes—maximum braking efficiency—"guaranteed safety!"

Payne's Lead Is Now Challenged

Bunion Derbyists Are Making Better Time In Recent Laps

SULLIVAN, MO., IS GOAL SET TODAY

By LELAND C. LEWIS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROLLA, Mo., April 25.—C. C. Pyle's seventy-three bunion derbyists continued their assault on the leadership margin of Andy Payne and Peter Gavuzzi as they left here today for Sullivan their fifty-third control, forty-two miles east of here.

Payne, leading Gavuzzi by a margin of 36 minutes with an elapsed time of 330:32:42 for the 1,969.3 miles, saw potential dark threats in the form of Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ontario, and Ed. Gardner, Seattle negroes who ran a dead heat for first honors the last two days.

The runners and walkers struck pavement west of Sullivan today and will have this hard road bed for practically the entire remaining 1,400 miles of travel.

"Watch out for shin splints," was the warning sounded at starting time today by Arthur Newton, the Rhodesian rambler who led the Pyle pack through the first 500 miles and who is now official adviser for the party. "The return to pavement after desert sand and graveled roads will bring back a recurrence of foot complaints.

"Surfaced roads and with the continual pounding of the feet upon them will in even a single day wipe out the bulk of any leader's edge. The pace is naturally getting hotter and men who were stragglers a few weeks ago move up in menacing fashion daily."

Believe Smith Delegates Win

Believe Democratic Delegates Named In State Favor Governor Smith

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Democratic delegate-at-large candidates said to favor Governor Al Smith as presidential nominee continued to lead today, according to returns from slightly more than half of Pennsylvania's 8,451 districts.

Available returns showed only one avowed anti-Smith candidate among the eight leaders in the race. This was John A. McSparran, of Furniss, Lancaster county, who with Norris Hoover of Hustontown. Robert M. Foster, of State College, and J. Houston McCollough, of Philadelphia, waged campaigns on an anti-Smith platform.

Gertrude S. Ely, of Montgomery county, led the so-called Smith candidates with a majority of more than 7,000 votes of McSparran who was also running behind Lillian D. Bergey, Anna Ewing Cort, Hester M. Fye, and John A. Reilly. Clinton W. Clader, and Gordon H. Cilley were leading Hoover, the next anti-Smith candidate, returns here showed.

Reports from the 15th congressional district indicated that Louis T. McFadden had defeated Mrs. Gifford Pinchot for the Republican nomination as representative by approximately 2,000 votes.

In the 16th congressional district unofficial returns showed that Miss Agnes Wilson had apparently won the Democratic nomination over Congressman Edgar Kiess who was running on both major party tickets. Kiess won the Republican nomination.

New England State For Hoover

Coolidge Gets Considerable Vote Despite His Refusal To Run

(International News Service)

BOSTON, April 25.—Returns today from Massachusetts' first preferential primary showed that Herbert Hoover and Alfred E. Smith had carried the Bay State in a landslide.

With only a few cities and towns missing the Republican preferential vote was:

Hoover—68,480.
Coolidge—4,438.
Al Smith—1,710.
Dawes—1,225.
Fuller—998.
Lowden—578.

The presence of Smith's name in the Republican vote was explained by the fact that stickers for him were distributed.

The Democratic vote in the preferential primary for that party was:

Smith—24,102.
T. J. Walsh—130.
Reed—54.

Among the Republican delegates at large chosen were ex-United States Senator Wm. M. Butler and United States Senator Frederick H. Gillette.

Among the Democratic delegates at large chosen was United States Senator David I. Walsh.

Special Services At Reformed Church

In preparation for the communion which will be observed on Sabbath April 29 special services will be conducted in the Reformed Presbyterian church beginning this evening and continuing Thursday and Friday evenings.

Rev. Paul D. McCracken pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church at Rose Point will assist the pastor Dr. E. A. Crooks and will deliver the message each evening.

Bachelors no longer get much thrill out of life. It has reached the point where a man has to be married to one woman in order to extract any kick out of making love to another.

Fable: Once there was a man who gave a great sum to help pay campaign expenses and didn't expect anything in return.

The world wasn't "created." It is still in process of being created. And it seems equally absurd to use the past tense in referring to the fall of man.

Careless Washing Spoils Children's Hair

Any child can have beautiful hair—healthy and luxuriant. It is simply a matter of shampooing.

Proper shampooing makes the hair soft and silky. It brings out all the real life and lustre, all the natural wave and color, and leaves it fresh looking, glossy and bright.

While children's hair must have frequent and regular washing to keep it beautiful, fine young hair and tender scalps cannot stand the harsh effect of ordinary soaps. The free alkali in ordinary soaps soon dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

That is why thoughtful mothers everywhere, now use Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo. This clear, pure and entirely greaseless product brings out all the real beauty of the hair and cannot possibly injure.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather which cleanses thoroughly and rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust and dirt.

It leaves the hair soft and easy to manage and makes it fairly sparkle with new life, gloss and lustre.

You can get Mulsified Cocoanut Oil Shampoo at any drug store.

A four-ounce bottle lasts for months.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, April 25.—Broadway is the show street, also the show-off street. The only night clubs which are profitable are those run for the benefit of persons who like flattery and are willing to pay for it. These folks find balm for the ego in being addressed correctly by a head waiter, given a "ringside" table, being referred to by name by a big-mouthed, vulgar "master of ceremonies," and paid attention by the usually nude girl "entertainer". They don't mind paying exhorbitantly for their fun, such as it is.

Most of the big spenders are men or women who have ways of getting money without earning it. Broadway doesn't care where your money comes from as long as you spend it.

Until recently, the boys who did the most bankroll rolling in the gay places were two brothers who operated a seemingly prosperous brokerage house. They gave parties for crowds of girls. One actress they gave two automobiles, one costing $15,000 and another $18,000. To another actress they presented a grand piano. On one occasion they tossed a handful of jeweled pieces among a crowd of girls who happened to be their companions for the evening.

Broadway saw their four limousines (why so many, no one knows), their sumptuous apartments, and supposed they were millionaires, but didn't care whether they were or not.

But now Broadway knows where they got the money. Their brokerage house is bankrupt, and they owe more than $1,500,000. Several hundred persons, many of them widows and persons of small means, are ruined financially. The boys, instead of investing money deposited with them, spent it on Broadway, showing off.

One of the strangest organizations in the world is the aviators' society, called "Quiet Birdmen". That isn't the real name, none but members know the correct meaning of the initials QB upon the tiny pins that initiates wear inconspicuously. Only members may attend meetings. Names of officers are never made public, and the organization does not permit publication of lists of its membership. Behind the clubroom doors the QBs are able to talk frankly, without fear of question, about the aerial feats that bring them wide world attention.

What wouldn't newspapers give to know what Lindbergh told the QBs? He belongs.

EIGHT FAMOUS FLIERS ARE NEAR

Celebrated Airmen Are Gathered Near Lake St. Agnes, Canada, Today

(International News Service)

LAKE ST. AGNES, April 25.—Eight of the world's famous airmen are within a few miles of one another for the first time in the history of aviation—seven of them sending up prayers for the recovery of one of their number.

While Floyd Bennett wages a fight against death of pneumonia in Quebec, the others grimly wait for the crisis to pass. Near the stricken flier are Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Commander Richard E. Byrd. At Lake St. Agnes is Clarence Chamberlin. On Greenely Island are Bernt Balchen, Captain Hermann Koehl, Captain James C. Fitzmaurice and Ehrenfried Von Huenefield.

All except Bennett have made the aerial journey over the Atlantic. Bennett and Byrd flew over the North Pole.

Lindy's Long Flight May Have Been In Vain

(International News Service)

QUEBEC, Que., April 25.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's four-hour battle with the air, through 500 miles of blizzard, rain and fog, to save the life of Floyd Bennett, his fellow aviator and north pole conqueror, appeared today to have been in vain.

The anti-pneumonia serum which America's premier airman brought here from New York to carry Bennett through the hardest battle he has ever fought against death, was pronounced unsuitable by the physicians attending Commander Richard E. Byrd's chief aide.

Bennett's condition is desperate.

While Lindbergh slept in his room at the Chateau Frontenac, serene in the belief that he had succeeded in helping save the life of Bennett, the doctors issued a statement that the flier's condition was "desperate".

Bennett is suffering from active and virulent kind of lobar pneumonia, the physicians said. His right lung is completely affected. Part of his left lung has also been attacked by the disease.

Plan Erection Of Big Cement Plant In Port Arkansas

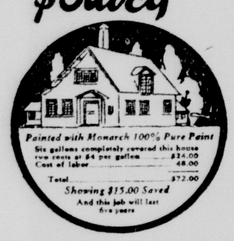

(International News Service)

PORT ARKANSAS, Texas, April 25—Literally millions of tons of mud shells will be purchased from the state of Texas and used in the manufacture of a patented waterproof cement under contract entered into with the state by California and Texas interests.

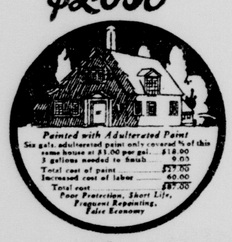

Industrial sites with a total frontage of 2,000 feet on Harbor Island just inside the government jetties at Port Arkansas and on the ship channel which leads to Corpus Christi have been acquired and a large plant will be built here at once to manufacture the product for export.

It costs 1/3 less to paint with 100% Pure MONARCH PAINT

$ Saved

$ Lost

Something Worth Knowing About Paint

THE two houses illustrated above are exactly the same in size, yet, six gallons of Monarch 100% Pure Paint completely covered the one, while six gallons of an adulterated paint left ½ of the other house unpainted. The explanation is simply this:

Monarch 100% Pure Paint is prepared from only pure carbonate of lead, zinc oxide, linseed oil, turpentine, turpentine drier and the necessary pure tinting colors. This formula, that has appeared on every can of Monarch for nearly half a century, insures maximum spread or coverage and also offers greatest protection and longest life. One gallon of Monarch 100% Pure Paint will cover approximately 400 square feet of average good surface, two coats to the gallon. Monarch will easily protect the surface for five years, and when re-painting is necessary the surface will be in excellent condition for its new coat of Monarch.

Graded or adulterated paint is one in which varying proportions of substitute materials have been used for carbonate of lead and zinc oxide. These substitutes are very cheap and have no place whatever in quality paint. They naturally cut down coverage and life of paint. In the illustration shown above, adulterated paint covered approximately 275 square feet per gallon and, therefore, it will be necessary to purchase three additional gallons to complete the work and the labor cost is proportionately higher. Because of the presence of cheapeners, or inert materials, that have been used in this paint, to say that it will last and protect the surface for three years, is more than a liberal allowance.

THANK YOU AGAIN

The returns of the Republican primary held on Tuesday, April 24, appear to indicate that the party has again named me as the candidate for the General Assembly.

The honor is one which I deeply appreciate. To me it is an expression of confidence which is most gratifying, and should I be fortunate enough to be chosen in the Fall election will be an inspiration to the best service possible of rendering.

To those many friends who stood so loyally by me in the campaign I can never fully express my thanks. The candidates who opposed me I wish to congratulate for a hard fight, well fought. Now that the primary battle is over I respectfully ask their support in the Fall.

President To Make Address At Gettysburg

Plan Of Coolidge To Deliver Memorial Address At Battlefield Discussed

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Considerable discussion has been aroused in Washington over President Coolidge's decision to deliver his Memorial Day speech this year on Gettysburg's historic battleground.

Fourteen presidents have held office since Lincoln made his immortal Gettysburg address, and if Mr. Coolidge carries out his present intention of speaking there on May 30 he will be the first to do so since "government of the people, by the people, for the people" rang round the world.

Just why none of the successors to Lincoln has spoken at Gettysburg is not altogether plain. Every president has delivered Memorial Day addresses, but save for Grover Cleveland they have all chosen to speak at Arlington Memorial Cemetery, just across the river in Virginia.

A tradition seems to have grown up that Gettysburg belonged peculiarly to Lincoln's classic address, which most histories claim was scribbled on the back of an old envelope held on the angular knee of the Great Emancipator. At any rate, Gettysburg has heard no presidential Memorial Day address since Lincoln's.

Inquiries at the White House brought the statement today that Mr. Coolidge planned to speak at the historic battleground for reasons of sentiment. Each year since he became president, it was explained, he has spoken at Arlington, usually to the same audience of Washingtonians, and this year he desired a change.

As this probably will be his last Memorial Day address as president, it was not thought out of place to make it at Gettysburg, although it breaks a precedent of sixty years standing.

Memorial Day was first celebrated May 30, 1868, by order of Gen. John A. Logan, Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic. Andrew Johnson was then President and spoke at Arlington.

Fall Of Peking Now Imminent

Two Southern Armies Moving Northward Spell Doom To City Of Peking

ORDER AMERICANS TO BE ON GUARD

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—With two southern armies moving northward in Shantung, Shansi and Chihli provinces virtually unresisted, the fall of Peking is imminent, according to official military advices reaching here today.

Several hundred Americans scattered throughout northern Shantung province have been ordered to concentrate on the seaport of Chefoo and state department experts are considering the advisability of evacuating all Americans in the three war-torn provinces. About 2,500 Americans, many of them missionaries, are within the potential battle area.

Additional naval vessels have been asked by American Consul Webber at Chefoo. Two British naval vessels are standing by. The Nationalist armies are now on the outskirts of Tsinan, the capital of Shantung province, with its population of some 40,000,000, and an important junction on the Tientsin-Pukow railway. Provincial defenders are in retreat toward Techow, 40 miles northward, where, at the juncture of the Grand canal and the Pukow railway, the northern defenders of Peking probably will make their last desperate effort to save the city for Chang-Tso Lin, the Manchurian war lord and northern dictator.

A second southern army is moving northward in eastern Shantung toward Tsingtao, where Japanese marines are stationed to protect the Japanese concession at Kiochow.

Any good town is a good town to the man who thinks it silly to waste more than 20 minutes at lunch.

Orphan Girl Hears; Deafness Overcome At Prayer Service

CHICAGO, April 25.—An orphan waif, deaf, hopelessly crippled, a tragic figure at 16, has been cured by faith after physicians admitted a medical cure was impossible, friends of the girl told the United Press.

The girl is Ruth Pieper. For two years she has lived at the Mary Bartelme Home here, doing odd jobs to show her gratitude at having some place to live. She could not hear a sound. She wore a plaster cast which made walking a task, and doctors said she would always have to wear it.

"But I had faith that God would make me well, just as he promises in the Bible to all who will believe," Ruth said. "Recently the people at the home took me to a prayer meeting. I went to the altar to be annointed, and something like thunder and lightning together flashed through my brain. I was stunned for a moment; then I realized that I was hearing sounds.

"Ever since I have been able to hear, and my back doesn't hurt any more and doesn't have to be kept in a cast."

The supposed cure was kept secret for several days until it was certain it was not just a temporary relief from affliction. Neither her hearing nor her spine has shown any indication of relapse.

The prayer meeting was conducted by the Rev. F. F. Bosworth at Paul Rader's Chicago Gospel Tabernacle. It was not a healing service, Dr. Bosworth said, although he added that he believed in divine healing.

Prince Of Wales Uses Typewriter

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 25—Edward, Prince of Wales, may now be added to the ranks of the "two-fingered" stenographers of the world.

Visiting a women's hotel in the East End here, the Prince watched a young stenog rapidly write a letter.

"You can work that machine very fast," he commented. "I am afraid I could not manage it at all.

"I can only use a portable machine, and even then only write with two fingers. I am a rank amateur."

The Prince revealed he uses his small machine mostly on train journeys to make copies of speeches he had to deliver.

The British are slow. Two weeks since the Chicago primary, and they haven't yet begun work on the triumphal arch.

Sweet Clover Best Temporary Pasture

Turn Cows In To Graze Early, Is County Agents Advice To Farmers

Sweet clover is the "king of the legumes" for temporary pasture, says County Agent H. R. McCulloch.

One acre of this legume will support from one to two cows from early spring to September, the county agent continues. It will furnish highly nutritious feed, being well supplied with lime, phosprorus and protein all very essential to the dairy cow and the growing animal.

When sweet clover is used for pasture the cows should be turned in as soon as the plants have reached the heighth of from three to four inches. They relish it better then than when the plant is older and more bitter in taste. Best results are obtained if enough cows are pastured to keep the legume grazed down to eight or ten inches.

Planes May Add To Troopers' Troubles

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Already busy with everything from chicken stealing to murder the state police apparently are going to find a new field of endeavor by making sure that stray aeroplanes forced to land in Pennsylvania are not molested.

Included in the reports which each troop commander makes to headquarters here monthly was a detailed account of the way in which members of Troop D. discovered the man who had stolen a valuable compass from a plane forced to land in Beaver county.

The plane was enroute from Kansas City, Mo., to Binghamton, N. Y. After the aviator left the machine the compass was stolen and the instrument board damaged. The case was reported to the state police who investigated, arrested the suspect and recovered the compass.

Radio English Teacher Claims Title As Champ Of Lady Broadcasters

By DAVID H. GLICKMAN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 25.—She is the champion woman broadcaster of the world—such is the claim.

Mrs. Gladys M. Petch, born in England, but who has adopted Norway, believes she has spoken through more radio broadcasting stations than any other woman in the world.

For more than three years Mrs. Petch has been teaching English over the radio to the Norwegians, under the auspices of the Norwegian government. From virtually every large broadcasting station in Europe she has sent her voice, and now she is making a complete tour of the United States, speaking from the major stations.

This young British woman is a thorough scholar of English, and claims that it is the greatest joy of her life to be able to teach it to the people of the Scandinavian country.

"You see, the Norwegian language isn't much good outside of Norway, as Norway has virtually no possessions. So the people are all anxious to learn English," she says.

"The Norwegian government, like European countries, controls the broadcasting stations. The people who own radios are taxed so much a year, and there is a tax on radio tubes, batteries, speakers and accessories.

"From this tax the country is able to maintain the stations and pay good salaries to artists appearing on programs. Advertising is strictly prohibited."

Mrs. Petch is associated with a broadcast station at Oslo, Norway, one of the largest in the country.

Six Of Members Of Senior Class Named Teachers

Some Of Westminster Seniors Have Already Signed Contracts To Teach

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 25.—Six members of the senior class at Westminster have already signed contracts to teach next year, a survey of the members discloses. A much larger group of the 71 seniors plan to enter the teaching profession, but have not signed contracts although a number have positions under consideration.

Those who have already signed up for the coming year are: Howard Kelly, coach and teach at Mercer high school; Elizabeth Weingartner, teach at New Castle high school; Francis McDowell, coach and teach at Mt. Jackson high school; Evelyn Winger, teach at New Wilmington high school; Ruth Moore, teach at Sharon high school; and Clyde Myers, principal of Plaingrove schools.

Among the Westminster graduates who are shifting their scenes of educational work for next year are: Harry Newell, class of '27, from Parnassus high school to Sharon high school; Miss Eleanor Gamble, class of '26, from Butler high school to Sharon high; L. H. Conway, class of '12, from principalship to superintendency of Sewickley schools.

Each year larger numbers of Westminster students enter the teaching profession. With the courses in education and psychology as organized by Professors J. A. Shott and J. D. Lawther conforming to all state requirements, graduates of the United Presbyterian school are especially well equipped for high school and junior high school work.

Makes Donation To Laboratory

Ball Mill For Ore Grinding Is Given To Westminster By T. R. Jones

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 25.—Thomas R. Jones, a graduate of Westminster in the class of '98 and New Wilmington citizen of prominence, has presented the Westminster department of chemistry with a ball mill for ore grinding in the laboratory. Dr. Charles Freeman, head of the department, and Professor J. George Lutz, instructor in chemistry, are delighted with the valuable donation to the chemistry equipment.

The machine consists of a porcelain jar which is clamped to a revolving metal framework. The framework is run with gears by a small electric motor attached. For laboratory use, the ore sample is placed in the jar in which small, round stones crush it to powder form. It is then ready for further analysis.

Mr. Jones, an active alumnus, was one of the outstanding workers for the restoration of the college library after the destruction of Old Main a year ago last January. Through his efforts as president of the New Wilmington Rotary club, a fund was raised and many hundreds of books were donated to the library which now contains more than 1,000 volumes. In addition to his interest in the library, Mr. Jones has shown considerable enthusiasm for the building program and for every movement to help the college in its forward march. This latest donation from Mr. Jones is but one of many which show what a loyal alumnus the college has.

A Suggestion TO MEN which women are invited to read

WHEN you buy your new General Motors car, why not keep your present car instead of trading it in?

Too many families are left marooned when the man of the house drives off in the morning. A woman needs a car for her business, too—the business of managing a home.

A car that is her very own will conserve her time and provide the hours in the open air that are the best health insurance for children. It will enable her to shop more economically; to see the friends who live at a distance; to keep in touch with widespread opportunities.

Buy a new car as you have planned, but keep your present car for your family.

The General Motors line offers a new car "for every purse and purpose," and ownership is made very easy through the convenience of the GMAC Time Payment Plan.

Another Suggestion

Another thrifty way to have a second car is to buy a good used car. General Motors dealers invite you to see their stocks of used cars and offer the convenience of the GMAC Plan of Purchase.

R. F. Frederick of 515 Electric street reported to the police Tuesday night that while driving south on Mill street and making a turn to go east on Long avenue that a man named Kyriakos Lalabkias 1310 Pennsylvania avenue, walked out on Long avenue directly in front of his machine.

The man was knocked to the ground and Mr. Frederick took him to the New Castle hospital where on examination it was found that he had no broken bones and had escaped serious injury. He did sustain bruises of a minor character. It was expected that he would leave the hospital today.

D. A. Miquel, 509½ Blaine street reported that he was going north on Mill street when one of the wheels went over a stone lying in the street and the stone was thrown by the contact of the wheel with it into and through a window of the Cukerbraum store, 25 South Mill street.

Pittsburghers Here On Tour

Wholesale Men On Bus Tour Stop Over In New Castle

HAVE MEETING AT THE CASTLETON

Closer cooperation between the wholesaler and the retail merchant was the point stressed at a meeting of New Castle retail merchants and representatives from 23 Pittsburgh jobbing houses, held under the auspices of the wholesalers council of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce and taking place Tuesday evening in the crystal ballroom of The Castleton.

The wholesalers, many of them the executives of their respective companies, came to New Castle on the first Bus Trade Tour of this year. The tour is in charge of Albert J. Stowe, secretary of the wholesalers council of the Pittsburgh chamber, and today plans to stop at Sharon, Ellwood City, Beaver Falls, New Brighton and Rochester. Previous to coming to New Castle the tour visited Ambridge, Woodlawn, Monaca, Rochester and Beaver.

Guests at Dinner.

Before the meeting which was held in crystal ballroom of The Castleton, the wholesalers had the merchants of New Castle as their guests at a dinner in the dining room of the hotel.

At the meeting of the merchants and wholesalers, A. J. Bihler, vice chairman of the wholesalers' council, presided and made the keynote speech.

"Many of the men who are entertaining the folks of New Castle this evening are the executives of their various houses. For some of them, this is the first time that they have been in New Castle for many years, and for others, I am sorry to say, this is the first time that they have been in New Castle.

Surprised At City.

"But I am sure that it will not be the last time. Myself, it is my first visit for some 25 years, and I am surprised at the changes which I find. It is a new city, a prosperous city, and a vigorous city. It will succeed on the same basis that its merchants succeed.

"We have with us tonight the men who will spell success for the city. New Castle is one of Pittsburgh's natural markets. My only wish is that our relations will continue on the same basis as they have in the past. We always have been friends, and we must continue to be so."

Mr. Rentz Speaks.

Mr. Bihler then introduced Fred L. Rentz, publisher of the New Castle News, who spoke to the Pittsburghers on behalf of New Castle.

"I count it a signal honor when I can say something for New Castle," declared Mr. Rentz. "For New Castle is one of the livest cities in western Pennsylvania. We have progressed in the last few years. Now we have the Scottish Rite cathedral, one of the largest auditoriums in the state; we have The Castleton, the fulfillment of the dream of more than one public spirited citizen.

"And more than this, we are located in a natural farming territory. We are located in a natural manufacturing territory. We have water facilities and some of the best modes of tranportation. Six railroads are in contact with New Castle; we are the third county in the state with improved roads, being led only by Philadelphia and Allegheny counties.

"Naturally, the home market favors Pittsburgh because of easy access.

"And in closing, may I say that there are no better class of merchants than those in New Castle. They are gentlemen engaged in the retail business and represent the highest type of men that can be found."

Following Mr. Rentz's address, Iliff Jones of Pittsburgh talked on the Golden Opportunities in Business and showed illustrative motion pictures. The meeting was closed by an address by Albert J. Stowe, secretary of the wholesalers council.

Pittsburgh Men Here In Bus Tour

Stop Tonight At The Castleton; Local Merchants To Be Guests

Representing 25 of the leading wholesale houses of Pittsburgh, the first Bus Trade Tour of the Wholesalers' Council, Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, will held a meeting at The Castleton at 7:30 this evening. About 100 men are expected to be in New Castle in connection with the tour.

The tour is the first of a series to be made by bus in different parts of Pennsylvania. It arrived in the city shortly after three o'clock this afternoon, and members visited individual customers.

This evening, a meeting will be held at The Castleton, which will consist of speeches by the members of the tour and Fred L. Rentz, representing New Castle. Iliff Jones of the Shippey-Massingham company, wholesale druggists, will give a talk on "Planned Selling" and will also show motion pictures on the same subject.

Motor Club Will Sponsor Cascade Tourists' Camp

The tourist camp at Cascade Park will be used and sponsored by the New Castle Motor club this season, it was announced this morning by Bernard N. Hanlon, secretary of the organization. This camp will be listed in all of the automobile tour blue books.

Because there are so many good places where the motorists can stop for accommodations along improved highways and because prices at these places are so reasonable the secretary of the New Castle club does not anticipate a heavy demand for camp sites. The whole camping-out idea he says is fast dying from the eastern part of the country although in the west where water is scarce there are still quite a few tourists' camps.

Water Supply Tests Will Start May 15

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Announcement was made today by Henry P. Drake supervising engineer for the examination and placarding of private water supplies along the highways of the commonwealth that work would be started in the Philadelphia section about May 15. The Philadelphia district includes Bucks, Montgomery, Chester and Delaware counties. Examinations of specimens will be made by the state laboratory in Philadelphia.

On June 1 the motorized laboratories will leave Harrisburg for their work which this year will be conducted in the seven districts into which Pennsylvania has been divided. This plan differs from that followed in previous years in that all roads in the district will be examined at one time rather than following the separate routes.

There will be 525 miles added to this year's inspection involving the entire Roosevelt highway; the road from the Ohio state line to New Castle, Butler, Kittanning and Indiana, the road on the William Penn through Indiana, DuBois to the Roosevelt highway and the road from Muncy through LaPorte to Towanda. A total of 3,325 miles are to be inspected. It is planned to have the work completed by July 15.

Some months ago a German chemist was making a chemical analysis of certain insects. The process involved covering them with powdered copper oxide and heating them in small platinum crucibles in an atmosphere of carbon dioxide. A little later he was astonished to find that the insects had turned to metal, with all the delicate markings and structure preserved. The discovery is regarded as of much importance, as it will enable museums to preserve rare specimens indefinitely.

Give the Painter a Chance

SOME PAINTERS think people are not willing to pay the price of good painting. They hesitate to offer an estimate based on using as heavy paint as is needed for proper protection.

Some also hesitate to use turpentine, fearing they will be accused of adulterating their paint. Much of the lumber used today cannot be successfully painted without considerable turpentine in the undercoat to penetrate the hard or resinous surface and give the paint an anchorage.

Ask your painter to estimate on doing the work the way his experience tells him it ought to be done. He might do it for less by cutting the weight or quality of the paint, but that will cost you more in the end. Just specify Carter White Lead throughout and leave the rest to the painter. He is willing to give you just as much quality in materials and workmanship as you are willing to pay for. Good painting is worth all it costs.

Easier to thin, tint and spread

Painters who have been accustomed to thinning 100 pounds of Carter heavy paste white lead with 4 gallons of oil for finishing coats (half oil and half turps for undercoats) will get paint of same weight and consistency by thinning Carter Soft Paste with linseed oil measure for measure. The greater convenience of soft paste costs the painter nothing

Senate Inquiry Into Bonds Is Nearly Ended

Probe Into Continental Bond Fund By Senate Committee Enters Closing Stages

NEW INQUIRY IS BEING HINTED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 25. — The senate's inquiry into the Continental Trading Company's mysterious $3,080,000 Liberty Bond fund entered its closing stage today since the senate public lands committee has located $2,887,100 of the "slush fund" bonds.

The story of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil of Indiana, that he received $759,500 of the Continental bonds and held them in secret trust for six years, accounted for a major portion of the hitherto missing bonds. There remained but $203,000 of the bonds accounted for and all these apparently went to Harry F. Sinclair, who was subpoenaed to testify next Tuesday. Sinclair may wind up this phase of the inquiry by telling a complete story of the division of profits from the Continental deal.

A new inquiry, however, may be under way before the bond investigation closes. Senator Norris (R) of Nebr., sponsor of a resolution calling for an inquiry into leases of the government's Salt Creek Oil fields, announced he would ask action on it today or tomorrow. This inquiry, if authorized, might last for months and may develop revelations quite as sensational as those brought forth by the Teapot Dome investigation.

Bremen Ready For Latest Hop

Plane Repaired And Ready For Trip From Greenely Island

(International News Service)

LAKE ST. AGNES, Que., April 25.—If the weather allows, the Bremen may depart today from Greenely island, where it has been isolated for 11 days.

The trans-Atlantic plane has been repaired and moved to the ice from which it will hop off, but a raging blizzard came up yesterday which made it impossible for Captain Koehl, Baron von Huenefeld and Major Fitzmaurice to leave the island.

The fliers attempted to take the plane up on a short test flight preparatory to flying here but were balked by a cold motor. While trying to get the plane into the air, the storm came up and prevented further efforts.

It is feared that warmer weather will cause the ice at Greenely to break up within a few days and for that reason the fliers are expected to allow nothing to stand in the way of their departure today.

"Bill" Winston, who made a non-stop flight here from Greenely island yesterday after spending two days with the fliers, said that when he left the island, he expected the Bremen to follow soon after him. Winston ran into a terrific snowstorm on the way south.

Government Coal Commission Is Advanced As Solution To Strike Problems

PITTSBURGH, April 25.—Leaders of both factions of the United Mine Workers of America today presented the miners' side of the coal strike situation before the coal seminary here. The operators' attitude was explained to the 47 ministers present, yesterday.

A government coal commisison was suggested as a solution to the coal problem by C. G. Lesher, executive vice president of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal company.

The meeting of the Bessemer troop 1 was called to order at 7:30 p. m., Monday evening, April 23, 1928, with a full attendance of scouts.

Preceding the meeting a ball game was held by the members of the troop and they then went in a body to th usual meeting place where devotionals were held, the roll called, and then the scouts went to their respective patrols. Mr. Wesley Drake, assistant scoutmaster, instructed the scouts in the use of the knife and hatchet, also the principal points of a compass.

AMERICA'S BIGGEST SELLER

PAPER FARMING

A young woman who was reared in an eastern Kansas town read in a poultry journal that poultry-raising was remunerative, so she decided to try it. She purchased a hen and set her on 13 eggs. She wrote to a poultry journal that poultry-raising was much to her liking and wondered how long the hen should remain on the eggs. The paper wrote back: "Three weeks for chickens and four weeks for ducks." Later she wrote to the poultry journal as follows: "Many thank for your advice about the setting hen. She remained on the nest three weeks and at the end of that time there were no chickens hatched. As I did not care for ducks I took her off the nest and sold the eggs."

Nothing Amazing about this Battery Principle

Yet engineers agree that BATTERY BALANCE is the one all-important reason for battery dependability.

Every car owner will instantly appreciate why a really reliable battery must be based on this simple common-sense principle.

A SURPRISINGLY simple principle is Battery Balance. There's nothing amazing or hard to understand about it. Yet it is so absolutely basic that engineers everywhere agree that it is all-important in battery construction.

What Battery Balance is

Battery Balance is based on the recognized fact that every part of a storage battery is equally important.

To insure long and dependable service, every part of a battery must be designed right and built right at the very start. And every part must do exactly the right proportion of work so that no extra load will be thrown on any of the others.

The same scientific accuracy marks the construction of every part of the Balanced Exide.

Exide BATTERIES

This evenness of construction is Battery Balance. You can see for yourself the sound common sense behind it. And when you realize that the Exide Battery has perfect Balance, you can understand why an Exide gives such long and reliable service.

Made by The Electric Storage Battery Company—for forty years builders of storage batteries for every purpose—the Exide is a combination of the finest materials plus long experience in blending them into a perfectly balanced unit.

When you purchase an Exide Battery, you purchase a battery that is not only built as a unit but also operates as a unit.

Exide Batteries are priced at $9.75 and up

High Schools Are Reaching Larger Field Each Year

Only One In Thousand Made Grade Fifty Years Ago

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Pennsylvania high schools are reaching an ever increasing proportion of the population according to figures announced today by the division of research and information of the Department of Public Instruction.

In 1880 less than one of every thousand population was enrolled in a public high school. In 1890 two of every thousand population were receiving the benefits of high school instruction.

In 1900 the number had increased to four for every thousand population in 1910 it was the equivalent of six and in 1920 to 17. Records show that in 1926-27 the last school year, 25 out of every thousand population were receiving instruction in the public high schools of the commonwealth.

Beware! Bootleggers Blamed For Spread Of Smallpox Cases

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 25.—All the dangers of contact with a bootlegger are by no means restricted to the "wet goods" he sells, Dr. J. Moore Campbell, chief of the communicable disease division of the State Department of Health today asserted. Dr. Campbell referred to the present outbreak of smallpox in at least one western county.

Dr. Campbell blames a West Virginia bootlegger for the appearance of the disease in Pennsylvania. The first case which developed in Somerset county was diagnosed as chicken pox and no immediate restrictive measures were taken. In less than a week 17 other cases were discovered.

In the past two years smallpox has not caused a single death in Pennsylvania. Officials are anxious to maintain that record.

CONDITIONS IN WALES

Conditions in Wales are not very favorable. Thousands of workmen are out of work and women and children are suffering the need of food and clothing according to late reports. Some communities in the United States have taken the matter up and formed committees to carry the work through of helping these needy people. A meeting of the Welsh people of the city of Pittsburgh was held last week in the Chatham Street Baptist church when a good amount of money was collected for the cause. Rev. Evans, pastor of the church was appointed to receive donations for the cause.

Reasons Given For Register Of Births

State Department Of Health Cites Importance To Individuals And Society

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 25.—Ten reasons stressing the importance of the proper registration of all births were cited today by officials of the State Department of Health in explanation of the recent State wide drive to compel compliance with that law.

The reasons cited deal largely with the personal angle of the desirability of birth registration and its importance to the individual. In addition authorities point out accurate birth records enable State and Federal statisticians to compile statistics which aid in the fight on various kinds of disease.

The list cited was as follows:

(1) Evidence to establish age and proof of citizenship, and descent in order to vote;

(2) Evidence to establish the right of admission to schools, to the professions and to many public offices;

(3) Evidence of legal age to marry;

(4) Evidence to prove the claims of widows and orphans under the widows' and orphans' pension law;

(5) Evidence to determine the liability of parents for the debt of a minor;

(6) Evidence in the administration of estates, the settlement of insurance and pensions;

(7) Evidence to prove the irresponsibility of children under legal age or crime and misdemeanor;

(8) Evidence in the enforcement of law relating to education and to child labor;

(9) Proof of citizenship in order to obtain a pass port;

(10) Exemption in the claim for exemption from or the right to jury and military service.

Free From Dandruff

Note the picture above. This woman's hair looks clean, free from dandruff.

Every woman's hair should—and can—look the same way.

Dandruff can be checked and often cured entirely by the frequent, systematic use of Listerine. You simply douse it on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously. Keep the treatment up several days. Within two weeks you will be delighted to find dandruff gone.

If you are one of the few who have an excessively dry scalp, use a little castor or olive oil in conjunction with this treatment. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Brick-Surfaced Pavements Keep Open to Traffic

You seldom see "Closed to Traffic" signs on brick-paved roads or streets.

Why?

Laid on any good base, with a sand cushion, and bound with asphalt, a brick surface protects the pavement base from both traffic punishment and weather damage.

Impervious to water, a vitrified brick surface is not injured by freezing; does not suffer injurious chemical changes. Resilient, it can take without damage heavy blows from traffic, or can contract and expand in changing temperatures without cracking up. A brick surface has never yet been worn out.

Hence less repairs; and no big maintenance bills. Necessary openings are quickly made, quickly closed again with the original bricks.

"The A. B. C. of Good Paving," a taxpayer's manual, tells in words and pictures how engineers today build ever-wearing, low cost, brick surfaced roads and streets. Address your request to National Paving Brick Manufacturers Association, 332 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

INTERNATIONAL CHILD WELFARE CONFERENCE

Sophie Irene Loeb presided recently at a notable conference in New York City, attended by delegates from every state in the Union and from 22 foreign countries.

The keynote sounded at this assembly was "A Home for Every Child", which brought notable discussion of ways and means of providing homes for 200,000 children, some total, others partial orphans, adrift in public institutions. Homes are desired for these 200,000 children, only 10 per cent of whom are real orphans, and the plan provides a means by which partial orphans, mentally normal, may be returned to their homes, where they will be adequately cared for.

The chief work of the Child Welfare Association is to work for such legislation that will improve social conditions for the children of the world.

The association is urging amendments to the mothers' pension law that will displace the pauper child in the United States by removing destitution in the home.

Forty-two states have already enacted mothers' pension laws, by which children can be kept in their own homes and given "not charity, but a chance".

WHAT CLUBS IN OTHER STATES ARE DOING

The Nebraska Federation has fallen right in line with the general Federation's program for raising the standard of living in the American home. They are responsible for 90 per cent of the public libraries of their state, sponsor baby clinics and encourage creative art by exhibiting work of artists of their state.

In Nevada a fine art loan collection which is in use in all the schools has been compiled. The clubs have also published a volume of poems, contributions of Nevada poets.

New Jersey is proud of its junior activities, claiming 80 junior clubs. They have done splendid work in the printing of Braille books for the blind in the institutions of the state. An extensive state park development receives creditable mention, as does the science hall and music studio at New Jersey College for Women.

New Mexico has succeeded in securing a state home and school for mental defectives and follows library and scholarship programs.

The New York Federation has aided in the erection of farm houses on the state fair grounds, which will be used for demonstration purposes by the American home department at the state fair. A gift of $1,000 toward the preservation of "Monticello", the home of Thomas Jefferson, was made. They have also undertaken an illiteracy survey.

In North Dakota a library and scholarship program has been carried out. A legislative council, composed of heads of leading women's organizations, studies legislative measures and recommends them according to their findings.

Ohio has made a follow-up of the survey conducted by the general Federation regarding labor-saving devices in the American home. Health programs and scholarship awards have been greatly developed.

In Oklahoma not only has the national program been executed, but a building program has been financed. The enlargement of the chapel for girls' industrial school at Tecumseh and the erection of a stadium in Pratt

National Park are accredited to club women.

Oregon, because of its scarcity of large cities and scattered population, has few art centers and so has instituted the novel idea of mounting good reproductions of standard works of art on heavy cardboard, identifying each with its title, description, name and the nationality of the artist. Hundreds have been made by Oregon club women.

Rhode Island is distinguished in having three generations of women's clubs, each group carrying on splendid work. In conducting their better homes campaign it is with special reference to the towns in which are the absence of waterworks and sewer systems. They are also sponsoring a course at Brown University on "Our National Constitution".

In South Dakota the extension of library service forms an important work. Their traveling library is accomplishing a great good.

Utah takes pride in its success in getting out the vote, the women outvoting the men by one per cent. To reduce illiteracy before the 1930 census, organized surveys are being made and measures for education provided.

Vermont club women were quick to respond to the relief work necessary during the period of the floods. The women cooked, sewed, cleaned, gave of their finances, contributing generously of themselves in their state's dire need.

West Virginia has its scholarships, its better homes development, open air schools and a citizenship training class. In one small town the club women put up the ticket and elected it.

Wisconsin Federated Clubs is carrying on the national's program. They have developed a pioneer story contest which brought to light thrilling tales, adventures and historical data of the early settlers.

State Gives Trees For National Forest

HARRISBURG, April 25.—A total of 38,000 forest tree seedlings, furnished by the nurseries of Pennsylvania department of forests and waters, will be planted on the Allegheny national forests located in Warren, McKean and Forest counties, this spring.

Forest Supervisor L. L. Bishop, with headquarters at Warren, states that the trees will be used in reforesting an area of approximately 30 acres. The planting will consist of red pine, white pine, Scotch pine, Japanese larch, Norway spruce, white spruce and white ash.

In addition to planting the forest tree seedlings, a number of larger trees will be set out in and around the public camp ground located at Loleta, Forest county, and Morrison Run, Warren county. It is the purpose to make these planting on public camp grounds conform as far as possible to an arboretum, and at the same time beautify the recreational areas.

EVERY MUSICAL SHOW IN NEW YORK USES LUX to double the life of stockings

Silk and net costumes, organdie hats, extra-long chiffon stockings—all must be sparkling, to make this gay chorus from Ziegfeld's "Rosalie" so adorable! Marilyn Miller, center

STOCKINGS that shimmer in the brilliant glow of the footlights—what critical scrutiny they receive! What strenuous wear!

Every woman knows what a problem it is to keep stockings new-looking — and how vitally important, when stockings cost so much.

New York's musical shows face this same problem, magnified many times over!

Wardrobe mistresses must keep thousands of dollars' worth of stockings in perfect condition. And make them last!

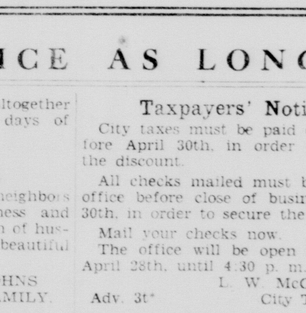

To find the safest way to wash silk stockings, different methods have been tried.

And the fact is disclosed that stockings washed in Lux wear twice as long! Give twice as many performances as those laundered by other methods!

This means so much in dollars and cents to the producers of New York's dazzling musical shows, that they now insist upon Lux.

They all do it

So the wardrobe mistress of every musical show in New York—without exception—specifies Lux for washing silk stockings. They buy it in the blue package you yourself buy—Lux is never sold in bulk.

MRS. BEATRICE CONIFF

wardrobe mistress with Shubert productions, says "Garter runs are more to be feared than any other stocking trouble. Anything which weakens the fabric must be avoided. That is why our laundresses use only Lux." The Shubert general manager adds: "We would use Lux if it cost $1.00 a box, for it cuts our stocking bills in half."

FAY ADLER AND TED BRADFORD

sensational dancers with the "Merry Malones." Ballet frills and satin skirts, alike, are kept new-looking with Lux, in the Cohan productions. No hosiery gets harder wear than the stockings danced in night after night—yet every musical show doubles the life of its stockings, saves money, by cleansing with safe, pure Lux.

WOMEN EVERYWHERE use Lux for silk stockings, as do the wardrobe mistresses of Broadway. Women know rubbing with cake soap may fade lovely colors—that many soaps (whether flakes, chips or cakes) contain harmful alkali that weakens fibres. So they make sure of extra wear—with Lux.

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN
Noted Beauty Expert

To Counteract the Effects of Winter.

Today we will go back to the first day's inventory and consider the actual reparation process. Beginning with texture, the first thing your skin will need is a partial abstinence from water—a total abstinence from soap, and the regular use of a very fine cleansing and massage cream.

Soap and water, you know, make the skin dry and sensitive—so banish them for alternate days—and should the sensitiveness persist, remember that you can depend on a light cleansing cream for absolute immaculateness.

What will the cleansing cream do? First it will lubricate the dried-out tissues—it will restore humidity to the skin—and then it being primarily a cleanser, it will penetrate deep into the pores and remove all the dust and grime and oil secretions which are choking pore activity.

Now let us consider the first faint line around the eyes—reddened eyelids and windstung eyes—I can think of nothing so self-satisfying as the consciousness of clear, pretty eyes, and I can appreciate so well the beauty of them, that the eye treatment I am going to recommend is a matter of eternal gratification to me. It is so simple and so effective.

First wash your eyes daily; or twice a day is even better; with soft cotton compresses wrung out of hot salt water—a pinch of salt to a teacupful of water—not too hot, of course, but as warm as you can stand it.

Then heat the smallest possible amount of boric acid solution or a good eye tonic in a small tin cup, and make two very thin cotton pads. Soak in the lotion and apply over the eyes; leave on from 10 to 20 minutes. You won't recognize your eyes afterward. All the redness and strained appearance will have disappeared as if by magic! Now, for the little lines and crowsfeet, a gentle patting in of a very rich nourishing cream—there are good anti-wrinkle creams which restore the elasticity of the skin and help to fill out the lines and hollows which so noticeably mar youth and loveliness. You should really leave this on over night—it isn't a bit offensive to have a thin layer of cream well patted in around your eyes, and it will help you.

Now we graduate to the contour. For the sagging contour—if the condition is very slight—witch-hazel will help; but better still, are the astringent jellies which will correct mild cases of relaxed contour and are not so drying. However, for a more pronounced condition, a strong balsam astringent is undoubtedly the best possible muscle tightener. Then do not forget the stimulating effect of your brisk under-chin patting with the back of the hand. This, together with your skin-clearing creams and skin toning lotions, constitute all the elements of a general corrective treatment which will truly make your skin blossom like the rose—and really—who wouldn't like to look altogether lovely on these beautiful days of early spring?

Corns
Pain gone—forgotten in one minute

They work like magic. In one minute Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads end corn pain.

Millions have adopted this new, scientific, quick, safe, sure way. By this method a corn heals itself, because it removes the cause—friction and pressure of shoes. If applied at first sign of irritation from tight shoes, Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads positively prevent corns.

Powerful liquids or caustic plasters don't give you these results—often make the toes sore from acid burn. Zino-pads won't irritate the tenderest skin. They are thin, protective, healing. At all drug, shoe and dept. stores. Buy a package today—35c.

Dr Scholl's Zino-pads
Put one on—the pain is gone!

This money is given the township bureau of highways each two years by the legislature, and then divided into those townships making application for state reward. The fund has allowed many miles of improved highway to be built in townships who would never have been able to finance any kind of road construction. The fund also assists in drainage of roads, slagging and cindering and building a macadam and the other expensive higher types.

WOMEN'S BENEFIT ASSOCIATION

One of the most successful and pleasant social events held in this community for some time was on Monday evening when the Women's Benefit Association entertained the pioneer or charter members in the lodge room. The affair was under the direction of the president, Mrs. Lloyd Mitcheltree. Thirty members were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

A number of members dressed in costumes of twenty five years ago, representing the old family album with Mrs. Adda Urey as chairman made the hit of the evening. A variety of amusements were enjoyed. Charter members present were Mrs. J. H. Davidson, Mrs. Jos. Evans, Mrs. C. C. Boyd, Mrs. L. L. Rodgers, Mrs. William Cover, Mrs. A. W. Graham, Mrs. H. H. Knox and Mrs. Blanche Moore from Youngstown.

A splendid talk was given by Mrs. H. H. Knox and Mrs. William Cover who gave a short history of the order which had been organized twenty five years ago in March with eighteen members, all of whom are living except one Mrs. John Byers who passed away at her home at Portland, Oregon, last year, but one of the greatest pleasures of the evening was that her daughter Mrs. Francis Harthorne of Portland, Oregon was present. She with Miss Helen Rodgers daughter of Mrs. L. L. Rodgers were the only daughters of the charter members who were able to be present.

A large basket of pink flowers presented by Miss Dorcas Lewis and a beautiful cake with twenty five pink candles which was presented by Mrs. Elmer E. Sharp of New Wilmington formed the decorations. Mrs. Davidson being the oldest member had the honor of lighting the candles and Mrs. Knox being the youngest was called upon to blow them out. A very delicious lunch was served by the social committee Mrs. Chas. Clark, Miss Margaret Kan, Mrs. Lloyd Mitcheltree and Mrs. Elmer E. Sharp. The honor guests were presented with souvenirs.

Husband's Death Gave Her Awful Nervous Shock

Lady Describes Three Years' Suffering; Says Ten Herbs Gave Marvelous Relief.

"Since the accidental death of my husband, three years ago, I have been almost a nervous wreck, and my whole system seemed to become disordered," was the statement of Mrs. Sarah E. Sammet, R. F. D. 4, Lititz, Pa., (near Lancaster), to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 E. Washington St. New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating the great natural medicine Ten Herbs. "I lost my appetite, and what little food I ate turned sour, and I would belch a hot, sour water, which would burn my throat, and cause me to choke," Mrs. Sammet continued. "Terrible heartburn and other distress caused by indigestion would follow. I would bloat badly, which was worse at night.

MRS. SARAH E. SAMMET

"I had bilious headaches and dizzy spells brought black spots before my eyes, which became so weak that I had to wear glasses. Sharp pains surged through my body, especially in the morning. My ankles would swell, and my joints would ache with rheumatism. I was troubled so with neuritis pains in the arms and shoulders that it was difficult for me to raise my arms above my head. My hands and fingers would become numb and stiff, and I used many different kinds of physics for constipation. I gradually became weak and run down, and was unable to sleep a full night on account of nervousness.

"Not being able to find relief, I was becoming discouraged, and then friends advised me to try Ten Herbs. After using the second bottle, all my ailments disappeared. My nerves are quiet, and I sleep better. My appetite is normal, and my stomach gives me no more trouble, as food digests now without souring, or forming gas. My liver and kidneys are better, and headaches and dizzy spells are gone. All aches and pains have been relieved, and my eyes are stronger. The swelling in my ankles has been reduced, and I am not bothered with neuritis any longer. My bowels are regular and numbness is gone. I feel better and stronger in every way. Ten Herbs gave me marvelous relief, and I do not hesitate to praise it very highly."

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. He will be glad to tell you how to take it to get the best results. Free sample given.

Mail Boxes Only For Mail Matter

Complaints Being Made That Milk Bottles, Etc., Hinder Carriers

Complaint has been made to Postmaster Edwin W. Crawford that the mail boxes on the rural routes are in many cases used for other purposes than the deposit of mail.

According to the rules of the post office department the rural mail boxes are to be used exclusively for the depositing of mail on which postage has been paid. But in several cases the boxes are being used for the depositing of milk bottles, cards for ice and bread companies and other articles that hinder the rural carriers in the placing of mail in the boxes and the securing of mail from the boxes.

Postmaster Crawford reports a great improvement during the past few years in the practice of merchants and others in using of mail boxes for the purpose of depositing circulars and advertising matter without sending them through the mail. Yet, he says, there are a few offenders in this regard.

Gallstones Kill Millions Annually

According to eminent medical authorities, Gallstones exact even a greater toll of lives than modern warfare. It is estimated that every year millions of people die directly or indirectly from Gallstones or kindred ailments. An old German doctor, Dr. Hildebrand, devoted years in an effort to find a Gallstone cure. His efforts were spured on by the fact that he was a sufferer himself. After numerous experiments he at last found a treatment that cured him of his Gallstones. The old doctor then prescribed this treatment to other sufferers. The amazing results they report is convincing evidence of the merit of his treatment. For a limited time through the Dr. Hildebrand Laboratories, Dept. 2354, 155 N. Union Ave., Chicago, Ill., sufferers everywhere may obtain a test of this marvelous treatment free. Anyone troubled with Gallstones, Liver or Stomach ailments should send their name at once. —Adv.

Grandmother finds way to grow old gracefully

"I don't try to keep up the pace of the younger generation," says this 65-year-old woman. "I leave that to my grandchildren.

"But just because I lead a quiet life doesn't mean that I'm not perfectly well. I never felt better. Everything about me is normal and functions as it should. I make sure of that by taking Nujol regularly. Nujol keeps me in good condition."

When people become less active, Nujol becomes even more important for good health. For Nujol not only prevents the excess of body poisons (we all have them) from forming, but aids in their removal.

All of us—old and young alike—lead more or less sedentary lives. But Nujol helps make up for this lack of exercise. It keeps the body functioning as Nature intended.

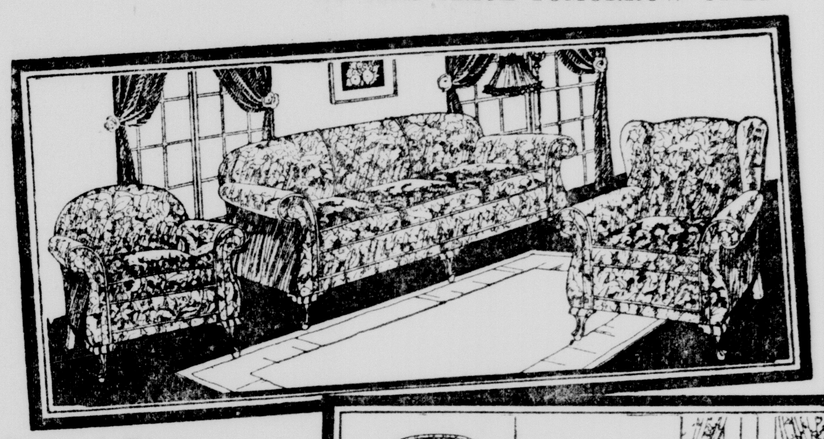

Even if you think you're perfectly well, try Nujol. It was perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Take it for three months and just see if you don't feel better. Nujol can't possibly upset you. It contains absolutely no drugs or medicine. Be sure you get the genuine.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

General George Armstrong Custer

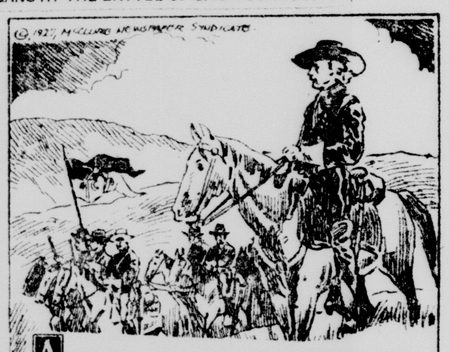

ONE OF THE MOST FAMOUS AND PICTURESQUE OF OUR WESTERN INDIAN FIGHTERS WAS GENERAL GEORGE ARMSTRONG CUSTER. OF THE "BEAU SABREUR" TYPE OF OFFICER, CUSTER WAS IDOLIZED BY HIS MEN FOR HIS DASH AND DARING, AND DREADED BY THE INDIANS, TO WHOM HE WAS KNOWN AS "CHIEF YELLOW HAIR".

CUSTER ROSE TO FAME DURING THE CIVIL WAR. AT TWENTY-ONE, FRESH FROM WEST POINT, HE WAS ASSIGNED TO THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC IN THE EARLY DAYS OF THE GREAT STRUGGLE. FOUR YEARS LATER HE HAD RISEN TO BE A MAJOR-GENERAL AND ONE OF SHERIDAN'S BEST DIVISION COMMANDERS.

THE BLOOD OF A NATURAL-BORN SOLDIER FLOWED IN CUSTER'S VEINS. HIS FIRST ANCESTOR IN AMERICA, IT IS INTERESTING TO NOTE, WAS A HESSIAN OFFICER, WHO SERVED WITH BURGOYNE AND WAS CAPTURED BY THE AMERICANS AT THE BATTLE OF SARATOGA IN 1777.

AFTER THE CIVIL WAR, YOUNG CUSTER WAS ORDERED TO KANSAS AS LIEUT.-COLONEL OF THE NEWLY ORGANIZED SEVENTH CAVALRY. BY HIS PERSONAL EXAMPLE AND DISCIPLINE HE MADE THIS REGIMENT ONE OF THE FINEST IN THE SERVICE, AND REMAINED ITS ACTIVE LEADER UNTIL HIS UNTIMELY DEATH IN 1876.

TOMORROW—SHERIDAN'S WINTER CAMPAIGN—1868.

Sharkey Seeking To K. O. Delaney

Heavyweight Tangle Can Be Mussed Up Considerably By Knockout

BELIEVE RICKARD OVERDREW HAND

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, April 25.—It wouldn't surprise some of the more intelligent of our intellectuals if Jack Sharkey hits Jack Delaney on the turnip next Monday night and knocks him for a row of two-family houses. If he does, Tex Rickard may discover that he has overdrawn his hand to the extent that he then will hold one more ace than Hoyle and etiquette consider strictly advisable.

For if Sharkey wins by the decisive medium of a knockout, Rickard will be in the questionable position of having gone out of his way to develop a better attraction than the man he already has voted into role of heavyweight challenger, Mr. Tomato Heeney, and in this case, the Tunney-Heeney fight very well might draw a lot of house flies. The more one considers the situation, the more one is convinced that Rickard forgot to duck when he let himself in for this Sharkey-Delaney business on Monday night. He already has one more challenger than he can conveniently use, to wit, Mr. John Risko, the prominent bag-holder.

A knockout always is the great convincer with the patients in the outer office. The betting is almost even that they will get one before the end of fifteen rounds of the Sharkey-Delaney heat. On the other hand, there wasn't even a knockdown to show for fifty-two rounds between Heeney and Risko, Heeney and Sharkey, Heeney and Delaney and Sharkey and Risko and that is one of the reasons the boys are prone to view our challenger with a certain degree of alarm.

Babe Ruth Has New Rival Now

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 25.—Although Babe Ruth is one up on Buster Gehrig in the home run sweepstakes today, the Bambino has a new rival in Joe Hauser, clean-up hitter of the Philadelphia Athletics. Hauser hit two homers against the Red Sox yesterday and now leads the circuit clouters of both leagues with four. Ruth's two home runs against Washington yesterday gave him a total of three.

Junior B's Lead In Track Meet

Junior B Class Show Best Form In First Day Of Annual Class Meet

SENIORS OFFER MUCH OPPOSITION

Despite the efforts of Jupiter Pluvius and Old Man Wintry Blasts to throttle the ambitions of the trackmen at Senior High School, the annual Class Track and Field Carnival got under way yesterday afternoon at Ben Franklin Field with the Junior B's taking the lead in the five events held.

The schoolboy carnival will be resumed today and will likely be finished with the possible exception of the hurdle races, the hurdles are being repaired and they may not be done in time for the meet.

The results of the first day of the meet were as follows: Junior B's 22, Senior A's 21, Senior B's 18½, Sophomore B's 4½, Sophomore A's 5, Junior A's 4.

Walter Smith, the colored flash was the winner of the 100-yard dash, with Willie Campbell the first man to the tape in the 440-yard dash. Babe Ruth Hits Two Home Runs

Famous Slugger Contributes Two Homers As Yankees Down Senators

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Special Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 25.—Bucky Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, has revised his opinion of the New York pitching staff today. In an interview yesterday morning Bucky declared that the Yankee staff was on the verge of a complete breakdown. A few hours later Herb Pennock, mound ace of the world's champions, held the Senators to three hits, whitewashing them 4 to 0 with the aid of two home runs by Babe Ruth. As a prophet, Bucky is a marvelous second baseman.

Pennock narrowly missed a no-hit game. One of the Washington hits was a fly which Ruth misjudged, and the other two were grounders which might easily have been converted into putouts on a dry field. The Philadelphia fox fancier did not walk a man and retired fifteen batters in succession. His performance was a better one than his world series classic against Pittsburgh last fall.

The Indians broke out into a heap big rash of five errors and Willis Hudlin had nothing but a prayer, so Cleveland dropped a 6 to 2 decision to the St. Louis Browns. Cleveland and the Yanks are now tied for first place.

Speaker Has Four Hits.

Joe Hauser hit two homers in one game for the second time this year as the Athletics won their first home game, swamping the Red Sox 11 to 6. Tris Speaker finally got his eye on the ball and contributed four hits.

Fifteen hits failed to help the Detroit Tigers, who lost to the White Sox, 5 to 4, in ten innings.

The slugging Brooklyn Robins clinched their hold on second place in the National League by handing the Phillies a 12 to 7 beating. Harvey Hendrick, debutante third baseman, did most of the dirty work with two triples and a single.

With Grover Cleveland Alexander on the mound, the heavy hitting St. Louis Cardinals stymied Cincinnati, 7 to 2. There was no doubt about the hitting of Douthit, who laced out four safeties. Alex got three hits himself.

Chicago's Cubs set off a 7 to 2 bomb under the Pirates. Hartnett and Stephenson hit homers and Sheriff Blake, chalking up his third victory of the season, handcuffed the Pittsburgh hitters in the pinches.

Rain kept the New York Giants and Boston Braves idle.

The Eight Wonders of the Sport World — BY FEG MURRAY

Copyright, 1928, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

The word "strength", composed as it is of seven consonants and one vowel, is most appropriate for the ruggedness and power that it implies. Taking each letter in turn, and using it to begin the name of a champion in some sport, and including each of the more important or popular sports once, we find that the lone vowel, the weakest link in the chain of letters, stands for the only woman champion used. And she can laugh at all the S's, T's, R's, N's, G's and H's in the world because, in proving herself the greatest swimmer of her sex the world has ever seen, she surpassed all mere man's records for crossing the English channel.

Sullivan, Thorpe, Ruth, Ederle, Nurmi, Gotch, Tilden and Hagen represent fighting, football, baseball, swimming, running, wrestling, tennis and golf, and while it may be that there have been stronger fighters, ball players, runners, and so forth than the eight athletes selected, the above octet forms an unbeatable combination, and in the success of the individual, strength, either of body or mind, has played a pre-eminent part. What if Nurmi does look frail, and is noted for his rhythmic running form above all things? Where would his records be if he didn't have a great hidden power in his lungs and heart, and easily seen strength in his hips and legs? Stamina, the will to win, and a love of the game they played all have had a part in the success of these "eight wonders of the world of sports," too.

Another combination follows:

Sandow, probably the strongest man that ever lived.
Thompson, Earl, world's champion hurdler.
Ross, the "Big Moose" of swimming.
Exterminator, the race horse that goes on forever.
Nelson, "Battling", plenty of strength there.
Grange, the Red Terror of the gridiron.
Tolley, one of the hardest hitters in golf.
Hornsby, six-time batting champion of the National league.

FEG MURRAY SAYS

If some of these ball players continue to put on weight, it won't be long before a reporter can truthfully write, "The first man up in the fifth inning walked, filling the bases."

Kearns-Dempsey Suit Is About Ready For Jury

Boxing Commission Riled Over Statement From Rickard About Officials

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 25.—The Jack Kearns-Jack Dempsey case is expected to go to the jury here today. Kearns, former manager of the ex-heavyweight champion, is suing Dempsey in U. S. district court for $534,000 for alleged breach of contract.

Meanwhile, the New York boxing commission announced that it would hold a special meeting on Friday to consider what action will be taken against Tex Rickard as a result of the disclosure that the promoter promised "protection" for Dempsey in the matter of a referee if he fought Gene Tunney in New York. It was revealed in court that Rickard telegraphed to Dempsey as follows:

"You would have no trouble choosing your own judges or referee in New York state to insure you against any favoritism."

James A. Farley, chairman of the commission, said:

"Rickard or no one else can promise protection to a boxer, nor promise to smooth the way for Dempsey or any one to pick his own officials for bouts here."

The commissioners hinted that "drastic action might be taken."

A ball park car the other day was so crowded the motorman had to walk. When the trolley came to a stop no one could move enough to get off. It was a terrible situation until someone found a can opener and excavated an exit through the floor.

When the crowd poured into the street a curious throng of passersby gathered. They thought it was a movie mob scene.

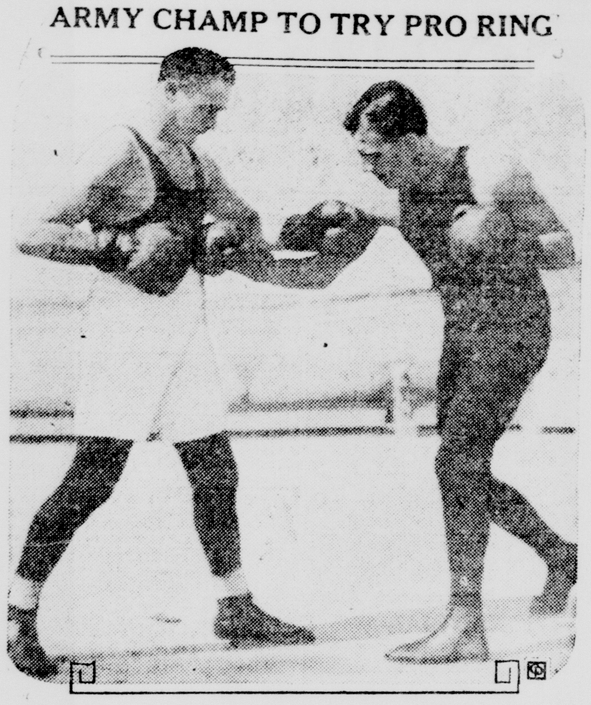

In a mid-western town a trolley once jumped the track. Two-thirds of the population were hurt.

Rook's Best Rooter

Papa George Grant, rookie Cleveland pitcher, must make good if just for the sake of Baby Mary Grant, his tiny daughter. That's Mary looking so proud in the arms of her big league dad.

ARMY CHAMP TO TRY PRO RING

Sam Warren, champion army boxer in the middleweight and light-heavy ranks at Schofield barracks, Hawaiian Islands, has returned to the United States with the announcement that he has turned professional. Warren is shown boxing on shipboard with George Tauman, noted army instructor. Warren is wearing black trunks and Tauman white.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

Ray Schalk, White Sox manager, is one of the veterans in service of the American league. He is recognized as one of the closest students of baseball in the game.

"You've watched a lot of ball games through the mask. Now what is the hardest position on the ball field to play?" he was asked.

"I never did anything except catch," replied the veteran backstop. "There's the man you ought to ask." And he pointed to Moe Berg.

"He has played every position in the infield, at least, and is now a catcher."

So the same question was put to Berg.

Most fans are familiar, in a general way, with Berg's meteoric rise to national attention as a catcher in the closing days of the 1927 campaign.

The Sox played through most of the season with Schalk, McCurdy and Crouse available for backstopping duty. Then Schalk was hurt. A short time later Crouse was placed on the casualty list. Two days later McCurdy was rendered hors de combat when Slim Harriss, Red Sox pitcher, swung with abandon at a wide ball, hit Crouse's glove with his bat, and tore the nail off Crouse's finger—through the leather covering of the glove.

Berg stepped behind the plate and proceeded to astonish everyone with his catching. Now he is ranked as first-string catcher of the team. Schalk is giving most of his time to managerial duties. Crouse and McCurdy stand ready to back up Berg.

But to get back to Berg and the question.

"I don't know much about catching as yet," replied Moe, "but from what I've had to do with it my guess is that it's the toughest job on the ball team.

"First of all, many of the vital plays in a ball game begin or end with the catcher. Once the batter reaches first it is up to the catcher more than anyone else to keep him from stealing. The catcher must not only help keep him close to first, but must help outguess him when he does decide to steal, and then kill him with a perfect throw to second.

"The catcher often times holds the game in his hands, literally, when the deciding play of that game is at the home plate. These are things the fan sees. In addition he can help or hinder a pitcher by helping to dope out the batter, by working with the pitcher on the batter and by instilling confidence in the pitcher by his general aggressiveness and cooperation.

"You've got to be on top of every play, mentally, for the reason that you don't know when the play is going to involve you."

Berg was a catcher in high school, but fought shy of that berth when he entered Princeton university. As Moe explains it:

"They usually picked as catcher a man who couldn't do anything else."

However, Moe was listed as an "infielder" when tried out by the Giants a couple of years ago, played the infield for the Toledo club when sent there, and was such when the Sox bought him from Reading, in the International league, in 1925.

"It was just one of those cases of a fellow not realizing where his greatest opportunity lies, and therefore being shunted around until mere accident gives him his chance," says Moe.

Sport Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

Following capacity crowds on opening day a number of ball clubs announce that their parks' seating capacities will be enlarged. Golf certainly has killed interest in the national pastime.

One park was so full ushers had to use shoehorns to seat the fans. Two days before the tilt the club owners were selling squeezing room only.

At that club owners could learn a thing or two from street car companies. A rush-hour trolley car makes a sardine can look like a vacuum tube.

SECRETARY'S SON BASEBALL STAR

Though Dwight Davis, secretary of war and donor of the Davis cup, was a great tennis star in his younger days, his son, Dwight, Jr., seems destined to shine in another sport—baseball. This is young Dwight scooping one up in a practice game at Cambridge, Mass., of the Harvard baseball nine. He is regarded a sure shot for first base.

Sportraits

JACK MARA

Jack Mara, Newton high school athlete, New York city, has a great chance to become a sport celebrity of national fame within the next few years.

Jack set the pace this year for all boy athletes in the metropolital district. He played center on the basketball city champions team, helped win the city cross-country championship for his school, is city champion half-miler and is a star at either third base or short for the Newton ball team.

He is just 18 and weighs 160 pounds.

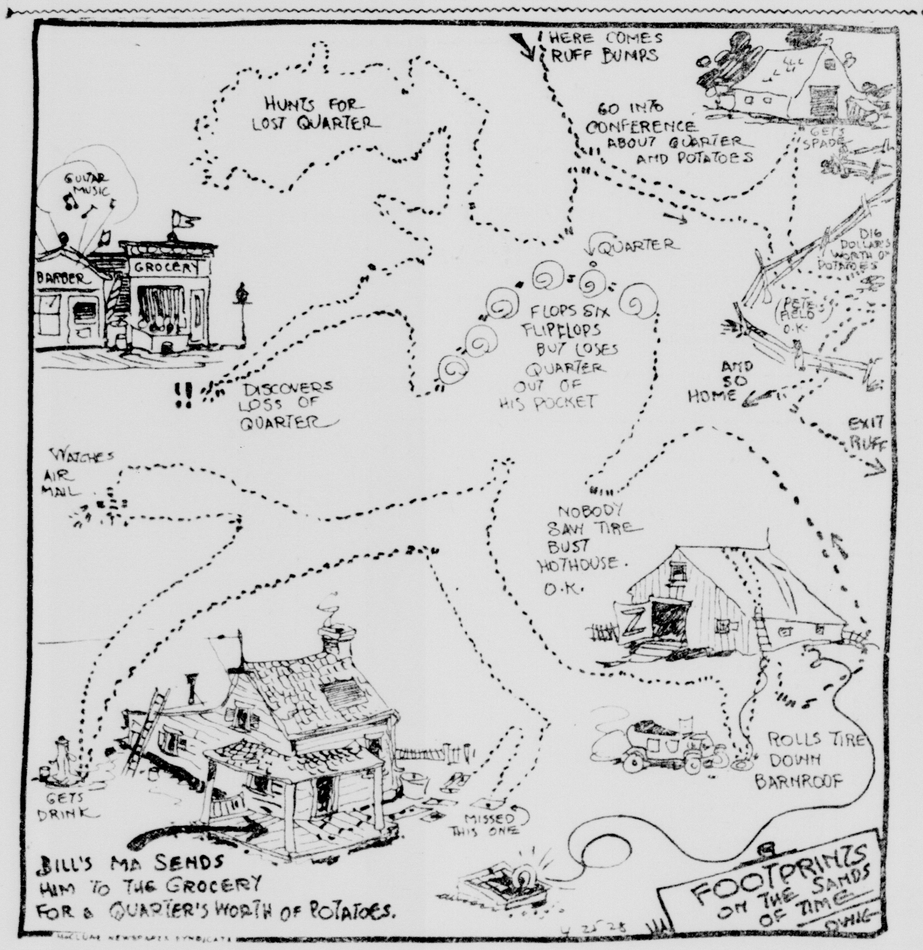

Heads Two Teams

No sooner had the hockey season closed and Captain Dick Vaughn, of Yale university, doffed his togs than the baseball practice season opened and Vaughn took up his duties as captain of the nine. Here he is at spring practice at New Haven, Conn.

Overtake the "72"?

---well, hardly!

IF CHRYSLER "72" were merely more beautiful—if it were just an average good value—it would deserve no special consideration from the buyer.

But it clamors for his consideration and demands his attention by reason of a gauge and proof of greater value which cannot be escaped.

CHRYSLER "72"

All cars today seek to approximate Chrysler "72" performance by patterning after Chrysler engineering. But after three years of striving, how close are they to the "72" today? No closer than they were three years ago.

As they have struggled to approach, Chrysler "72" has pulled away and gallops around and past them with more than the ease of the old original Chrysler sensation-car of 1924.

There may be pocketbook reasons for choosing cars of lesser price than the "72." There simply cannot be a valid reason for paying as much or more for any car other than the "72."

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" Prices—Two-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1545; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1595; Four-passenger Coupe, $1595; Town Sedan, $1695; Convertible Coupe (with rumble seat), $1745; Crown Sedan, $1795. All prices f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax. Chrysler dealers are in a position to extend the convenience of time payments.

New Chrysler "Red-Head" Engine—designed to take full advantage of high-compression gas, standard equipment on all body models of the 112 h.p. Imperial "80," also standard on the roadsters and available at slight extra cost for other body types, of the "62" and "72."

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 25.—After early irregularity, the industrial stocks resumed their strong forward movement in the early trading today. Radio's leadership was the outstanding factor in this period. General Motors being somewhat slow to respond to the favorable quarterly earnings statement issued at the close of Tuesday's market. The public service and utility stocks were strong from the start, tobaccos still weak and Delaware and Huson the feature of the rails.

Accurate forecasts of the first quarter's net earnings of General Motors spoiled the effect of President Sloan's official statement, and the stock sold nearly 2 points lower at the start. U. S. Steel stock easily recovered its opening loss of 1 point. Radio jumped 4 points. The aeroplane stocks were also active and strong.

Delaware and Hudson's 8-point jump to 221 accompanied rumors of important accomplishments in the Eastern trunk-line railroad merger situation by L. F. Loree, head of the system. The St. Paul stocks and a few of the non-dividend "merger prospects" moved upward a point or two. Mexican Seaboard led the cheap oils, with a new 3-point advance to 33.

Call money was unchanged at 5 per cent.

Meanest Man In State Is Found

BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 25.—Centre county's and probably Pennsylvania's meanest man has been discovered. His discovery came about in this manner.

Frank Houser, 12, tramped the streets of Bellefonte all winter selling potato chips and attempted to save enough money to purchase a new pair of shoes when spring rolled around. Last week he decided he had enough money, lacking a small sum and he went to a store and selected the shoes, having them placed away for him. He called for them last Saturday after he had sold enough of his chips to pay the remaining amount due on the shoes.

Proudly he placed the shoes in his basket and started out to sell more chips. He left his basket on the sidewalk in front of a store and entered to sell two bags of chips, which had been ordered.

He returned two minutes later to find the shoes gone. Reduced to tears Frank appealed to the merchant who had sold the shoes. The merchant had an idea and told Frank to return home and then call at the store later in the evening. Later in the day a man called at the store. He wished to exchange a pair of shoes he said both of which were for the left foot. The merchant recognized Frank's shoes and the man who had denied the theft was taken into custody. Frank regained his shoes the same evening.

The merchant says that not until the man attempted to make the exchange did he know that he had inadvertedly sold Frank two shoes for the left foot.

EASTON, MD., BOASTS WHITE-HEADED ROBIN

EASTON, Md., April 25.—Mrs. James Wallace, who lives near Community Park, a suburb, saw a white-headed robin perched in the trees around her home. She called the attention of her neighbor to the bird. None had seen a bird so marked.

The bird appears perfectly at home with robins.

Preparing For State Convention

Tentative Plans Are Made For F. P. A. Convention Here In September

LOCAL MEMBERS ARE ENTHUSIASTIC

Tentative plans for the big state convention of the Fraternal Patriotic Americans to be held here September 11-12 were made and discussed at the meeting of New Castle Council No. 180, held in the lodge room of the Clendenin building, Tuesday night.

There were two hundred members of the order in attendance, including four state officers, a delegation of twenty-five from Ellwood City and a delegation of fifteen from Wampum. There was great enthusiasm displayed during the consideration of plans for the event.

There will be four hundred delegates in attendance at the big convention, the first of the Fraternal Patriotic Americans, ever held here. The local organization as well as those in other parts of Lawrence county, are enthusiastic over the matter and are planning to make it the biggest and best state convention ever held.

Various committees for the event have been selected and they will be announced later, as they work out the details of their respective parts in the big affair.

Sessions of the convention will be held in the I. O. O. F. hall on North Mill street, while The Castleton will be the headquarters of the delegates. It is anticipated that all the hotels will be filled with delegates during the two days session of the state convention.

One of the features of the convention will be a big banquet.

The state officers present as guests last night and assisting in planning for the big convention were: C. S. Bauman, Philadelphia, State Councillor; C. W. Brinser, Philadelphia, secretary of the State Council; John Heizenroeder, Pittsburgh, Junior Past State Councillor, and L. H. Crick, Pittsburgh, Past State Councillor.

They spoke enthusiastically in behalf of the state convention and commended the enthusiasm of the local lodge and its members in undertaking to put on the big affair.

At the close of the meeting, excellent refreshments were served and enjoyed by the entire group of people in attendance.

Mahoning Township Votes Bond Issue Of $109,000 For Schools

Residents On Both The South And North Sides Of The Mahoning Favor Project

Bond issue of $109,000 for the erection of a consolidated school building at Hillsville was carried by electors of Mahoning township yesterday by a vote of over two to one. Total vote cast for the bond issue in the three voting precincts was 216, against the issue 96.

The vote by precincts was as follows: First, 82 yes, 17 no; second, 94 yes, 48 no; third, 40 yes, 31 no.

The vote indicates that residents on the north side of the Mahoning river have gone along with those on the south side in favor of the bond issue.

The proposed school house will be built on the south side, but it is understood that people of the north side are to get a school house later.

The building as proposed will contain 20 school rooms. It is likely that with the passage of the bond issue efforts will be made to let the contract for the new building as soon as possible.

Congregation of the United Presbyterian church at Mt. Jackson will have a meeting at the church cemetery Saturday morning, April 28, at 8 o'clock for the purpose of learning something about unmarked graves in the cemetery.

It is the purpose of the congregation to level the entire cemetery and resod it. There are a number of graves unmarked. All relatives who have friends buried in this cemetery are asked to attend this meeting if possible. Markers will be given to all those who have relatives buried there whose graves are unmarked.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

There may be some errors creep into today's "colyum" and if they do, blame it on lack of sleep. Election night around a newspaper office is something a trifle busier than beehive in the middle of clover season and anyone connected with a paper has his work cut out.

For many years my own task has been the compiling of the returns, and the checking of city precincts after the office has closed. It's an experience. All you need is a car, a flashlight, a pencil, some paper and a good companion. And perhaps a little patience at times. Billy Williams has been the comrade in arms for this task for some years and between us we got the city checked this morning at 3:15.

Those return sheets flapping idly in an early morning wind seem to be an anti-climax after the heat and action of the day's battle. Just a long slip of paper, with a lot of figures set down on them, but what a tale they unfold. Victory or defeat, satisfaction and disappointment, surprise and more surprises, all of them the written evidence of what the voters did at the polls.

The high wind of last night blew some of the return sheets loose from their moorings. One of the sheets of the 5th precinct of the Second Ward was found up on Laurel Boulevard, and others had been tucked under the door. Those of the 3rd of the Fourth Ward had blown away and it was necessary to rout Doc McBride from his bed at 1:30.

The boards in the big precincts always have my sympathy. Hours after you had been in bed sleeping peacefully, the women comprising the board of the Fourth precinct of the Second Ward were still counting. They had around 350 ballots to count and they did it accurately, but it took some long weary hours. It's a job, and these ladies did it most efficiently.

There is a lot more fun in being a yokel, the joke is on yourself so often. For instance a magical wind shield rag I bought a few days ago. A salesman stopped me at the curb and put on a super-sales talk that was a dinger. He had a wind shield rag that cured forever the annoyance of rainy wind shields. The fluid, or magic or whatever it was in the rag fixed things so that the rain ran right off without any annoyance. He demonstrated it and it seemed to be the real thing. He took my fifty cents and I got a copy of his wind shield rag. It rained Tuesday. Now thought I comes the chance to test this wondrous rag. I did. And after the rain hit the wind shield it was just the same as it always was. I still have the rag and will offer it for a couple of stogies, or what have you?

Splendid Concert At Epworth Church

Noted Pianist And Local Talent Present Fine Program

Concert presented Tuesday night at the Epworth M. E. church by the choir, assisted by Prof. Herman Gruss, noted German pianist, and a number of local artists, was one of the finest things musically that has been presented here in some time.

The church auditorium was filled to capacity with an enthusiastic audience of music lovers, who were afforded one of the most delightful musical evenings in some time.

The choir under the direction of W. R. Short, choir director, presented several very interesting and pleasing numbers, including "A Dream Boat Passes By", "Ship O'Dreams", "Rose of the Morning" and the "Hallalujah Chorus". The choir not only proved the appreciation of its members of music, but their ability of perfect rendition, under such leadership as that of W. R. Short.

Mr. Short, whose every day business is that of merchandising in the New Castle Dry Goods company place of business, has as his special hobby, that of music. He was trained abroad in voice and violin and his standing in things musical was demonstrated last night in his own efforts and that of the choir.

The assisting artists were Prof. Herman Guss, pianist, Mrs. Paul Welsh, Miss Virginia Reeher, Mrs. Garth Kennedy, Mrs. Blumquist, Lyons Double quartette and Mrs. Pyle, organist.

Too much praise cannot be given to Professor Herman Gruss, an accomplished pianist of world note. His rendition of selections from Rachmaninoff, Chopin, Moszkowsky, Liszt and Wagner was perfect. The lightness of touch and ability to express the feelings and emotions was felt by the entire audience. He was received in an appreciative manner and proved himself to be one of the most talented of musicians, which has ever been presented in New Castle.

The Lyons Double quartette, consisting of Messrs. McCombs, Taylor, Short, Welsh, Cubbison, Stitzinger and Hulbert sang in their usual manner and entertained to the highest degree.

The beautiful piano selection rendered by Mrs. Paul Welsh, accompanied by Mrs. Pyle, at the organ, displayed the technique of two accomplished musicians, while the soprano solo by Mrs. Blumquist and also by Mrs. Garth Kennedy were rendered in the most pleasing manner. In the solo "By the Waters of Minnetonka", Mrs. Kennedy was ably assisted with the Violin Obligato by Mr. Short.

Miss Helen Allen, soprano and Miss Margaret Preston, contralto, were enthusiastically received and appreciated. Their voices blended in a very harmonious manner.

The mixed quartette, consisting of Mrs. Blumquist, Miss Bowman, Mr. Smith and Mr. Reynolds, sang "Out of the Dusk" in an able manner.

Miss Virginia Reeher, well-known reader, entertained in her usual pleasing manner. Her selections were of the best and were rendered in a very competent manner.
